CROWNED CZAR OF ALL RUSSIA.

Unparalleled Display at the Coronation Ceremonies.

REMISSIONS AND AMNESTIES.

Arrears of Taxes Cancelled and Sentences of Political Exiles Reduced—Priceless Jewels and Richly Magnificent Decorations.

Moscow, May 26.—The great event, for which untold preparations had been made, is over. The supreme function was accomplished without a hitch. The weather was perfect and everything led the people to look forward with hope to the reign of Czar Nicholas II., the ruler of millions.

Imperial Proclamation.

The proclamation issued to-day by the Czar on the occasion of his coronation, prescribes various remissions of which the following are the principal:

All arrears of taxes in European Russia and Poland are remitted and the land tax is reduced by half for 10 years.

The sentences of exiles in Siberia are materially reduced, political offenders receiving further remissions, with the restoration of their civil rights in certain cases. The ex-ministers of the Interior and Justice are empowered to submit to the Czar deserving cases of those punished after a regular trial. Those persons who shared in the Polish rebellion who are not guilty of murder, cruelty, arson or robbery, are exempted from the police supervision decreed in 1863 and are granted full freedom of residence if they return to their own country and take the oath of allegiance.

Magnificent Jewels.

At 2:35 p. m. yesterday the gorgeous regalia which were used at the ceremony were transferred with great pomp from the treasury to the throne room, the hall of St. Andrew, in the Kremlin palace.

The most important of these is a magnificent crown, which was manufactured by a Geneva jeweler at the command of the Empress Catharine II. immediately after her accession to the throne. It somewhat resembles a mitre, surmounted by a cross of flawless diamonds and the celebrated pear-shaped ruby, which has scarcely a superior in the world. This forms the only touch of color, the rest of the stones being diamonds and pearls. The setting is of silver and there is a bend of purple velvet inside. The value of the crown is over 1,000,000 roubles, but that of the sceptre surpasses it. Made for the coronation of the Emperor Paul in 1797 it is the most wonderful thing of its kind which has ever been known, for the famous Orloff diamond surmounts it. The orb also dates from the reign of the Czar Paul and is of solid gold, set with three rows of brilliants and a large almond-shaped diamond. The diamond cross is supported by an exquisite sapphire, worth a fortune.

The Czar also donned the collar, star and jewel of the Order of St. Andrew valued at over 100,000 roubles. This order is never worn save on a day of coronation, and is adorned with five pink diamonds and two Siberian aqua marines, one blue and the other green, set in diamonds.

The jewels which the Czarina will wear are little inferior in value. The state coronet contains stones of unequaled beauty. The necklet worn with it consists of huge single stones with hanging pendants of still larger diamonds. The coronation robe is the most costly ever beheld, and the masses of precious stones which her imperial majesty will wear in addition will be of incredible value. They include the smaller insignia of the St. Andrew order, set with gems representing a fortune.

These magnificent symbols of authority will remain in the throne room during the night, guarded by a detachment of the grenadiers of the palace and several gentlemen of the court.

Preparing for the Ceremony.

Yesterday afternoon the Emperor and Empress left the palace of Alexandria and took up their quarters in the Kremlin. Their chief devotions were paid in the Cathedral of The Redeemer, a small chapel upon the gold court, surmounted by 12 small gilded cupolas. This private chapel of the palace contains a miracle-working image of the Savior, and here before the golden ikonostas the imperial couple performed their acts of preparation for the sacred ceremony.

All day long preparations went forward and many of the tribunes, which were erected for the triumphal entry were removed, so that more space could be given for the massing of soldiers and entrance and grouping of invited guests. The decorations throughout the city were looked to and renewed where necessary. Full preparations for the illuminating were made, so much so that had a stranger happened upon Moscow he might almost have thought a new town was in process of erection.

Coronation Ceremonies.

To-day was the chief day of all those given up to the coronation ceremonies. The weather was fine and the sky cloudless. The Kremlin which was the center of attraction was early surrounded by waiting crowds, who had no possible hope of getting inside, but were satisfied to see what they could outside the walls. Troops headed by bands of music began moving at 4 o'clock in the morning, marching to the Kremlin. At 7 o'clock a salvo of 21 guns was fired and at 7:30 o'clock the bells of the cathedral began to peal.

Assembled in the halls of the Kremlin were all of the personages forming the Czar's cortege, the ladies of the court, noted dignitaries, officers in uniform, etc.

A definite place had been allotted to each as the space within the cathedral is exceedingly small, and no one outside the members of the imperial family, the foreign sovereigns, princes of their representatives, the diplomatic corps and a favored few were able to enter the covered precincts.

At 8:45 the diplomatic body and special envoys slowly filed into the sacred building. The choir continued singing and at 9 o'clock the sound of cheers and roars from the waiting throngs outside announced the fact that the royal party was approaching.

Shout after shout rose upon the air, drums sounded, bells pealed and the bands grouped in the great square played the national anthem. At these sounds the metropolitans of Moscow, St. Petersburg and Kieff and several of the higher clergy proceeded to the southern entrance of the cathedral. Then through the throng were seen the great dignitaries of state, bearing the imperial insignia, regalia and coronation robes, which they deposited on richly worked cushions on a table near the throne.

Immediately after, amid tumultuous shouts from the outside, the Emperor and Empress appeared at the door. They were received by the clergy and escorted to the steps of the altar. The Emperor was dressed in the dark green and gold uniform of a general of the guards, with high boots. The Empress was dressed in a silver robe with long train, which was borne by four pages. Arriving at the altar steps the Metropolitan of Moscow and the Grand Duke Sergius welcomed the Emperor and Empress in the holy building.

The Metropolitans of Kieff and St. Petersburg then assisted the Czar to don the imperial mantle, made of cloth of gold, lined with ermine, which was presented on two golden cushions by court chamberlains. After donning the mantle, the Emperor assumed the diamond collar of St. Andrew.

The Czar then received the crown from the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg, and, standing in full sight of all the people and still before the altar, with both hands, placed the crown upon his head. Then taking his sceptre, in which blazed the famous Orloff diamond, in his right hand, and the globe of the Empire in his left, he ascended the dais and took his seat upon the throne, the Empress still standing in her former place. This was the supreme moment of all, and when gazing round the church and seeing representatives from nearly every district of this mighty empire and beholding the Czar sitting on his throne of state, with the symbols of power given to him by the highest authority in the land, one had a realizing sense of the great power wielded by the man in whose honor this great function was held.

At the moment of taking his seat on the throne, the cannon of the arsenal thundered forth, the bells rang and the bands massed outside playing the national anthem.

MORE ABOUT THE RATTLER.

May Prove a Big Mine—The Burns Is a Regular Producer.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 26.—Additional particulars were ascertained to-day regarding the strike which was recently made on the Rattler claim on Raven hill. Prospecting had been going on for some time on the west end of the property, when a strong vein was uncovered. The vein showed up free gold in the seams and carried considerable rich talc from grass roots down. The ore body is from five to ten feet wide, and gives indications of becoming a big shipper. Three shifts of men have been set to work and a new shaft house started. The ground is under lease to J. E. Russell, the original locator of the property, who believes that he has found what will be the making of a big mine.

The Burns, belonging to the Acacia company, is producing between three and four cars of ore per week that average $40 in gold to the ton. The stuff is being treated at the cyanide works at Florence. The company has just started a force of men to work prospecting for an extension of the vein which was opened up in the Free Coinage group last week. The trend of the new vein is towards the Burns claim, and hopes are entertained of soon cutting it.

The Sacramento is looking very good just now, and the ground, which is being developed by the company is said to have some good ore. The company is continuing itself to sinking the shaft, which is now considerably more than 100 feet.

A shipment of eight tons of ore was made to-day from the Eclipse on the north slope of Squaw mountain, and owned by the Anglo-American Exploration company. The ore comes from a five-inch streak in a three-foot vein and runs about $90 per ton.

Two cars of ore were shipped to-day from that portion of the Grace Greenwood known as the Meinhardt lease and worked by the Old Colony company. A new shaft has been sunk on a good-sized vein of low grade ore.

Several shipments have been made during the past month from the Wolftone, under lease to Messrs. Shellback and Townsend. The shaft has attained a depth of 110 feet and the ore runs from $30 to $40 per ton.

INDIAN OUTBREAK.

Unwelcome Canadians Invade Montana and North Dakota.

Omaha, Neb., May 26.—Advices received here to-day are to the effect that the Cree Indians, natives of British Columbia, have crossed the border into Montana and North Dakota on their hunting trips, and are running off cattle and destroying farm houses. No cases of bloodshed have occurred, but the settlers are greatly stirred up and have called on the government for protection. Troops B and E of the Tenth cavalry, located at Fort Custer, Montana, have been ordered to prepare for active service, and will be used to force the marauding Redskins to leave the country.

All leaves of absence to the officers have been cancelled, and instructions have been issued to absentees to immediately report for active service. Information has not yet been given out from army headquarters here as to when marching orders will be given.

Guilty of Grave Robbery.

Omaha, Neb., May 26.—The jury in the Stanley Claycomb grave robbery case returned a verdict this afternoon of guilty as charged. This was the trial on the Helin case of grave robbing, Claycomb having been acquitted in the Larson trial.

Claycomb was the man who was caught at Des Moines with two trunks in his possession containing human bodies. He expected to dispose of them to the Drake Medical College for dissecting purposes. Later it was discovered by Omaha detectives that the graves of Mrs. Anna Larson and Mr. Helin at Mt. Hope cemetery, in the outskirts of this city, had been tampered with, and the bodies removed. The bodies shipped to Des Moines proved to be the missing ones. Iowa authorities were here to re-arrest Claycomb should he escape conviction, they having similar cases against him.

Indianans Confer.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 26.—The Democratic free silver conference was held here to-day. Chairman Holt of the State committee, was asked to resign because of his inclination towards gold. A resolution offered by J. R. Strouse of Rockville demanded the resignation of Hon. S. P. Sherin of Logansport, as a member of the national committee from Indiana on the same grounds, but it did not carry.

All for Free Silver.

Chicago, May 26.—The Cook county Democratic convention to-day elected delegates to the State convention. The gathering was confined almost exclusively to the supporters of free silver, the "honest money" Democrats refusing to vote for delegates to the convention at yesterday's primaries. Altgeld was indorsed for governor.

Oklahoma Democrats.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 26.—The Territorial Democratic convention met here to-day and passed resolutions favoring the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at a ratio of 16 to 1. The delegates to Chicago were instructed to stand for free coinage.

Texas Politics.

Galveston, Tex., May 26.—Political circles in Texas were astonished to-day by the withdrawal of ex-Gov. Roberts, a silverite, from the gubernatorial race. The "sound money" Democrats bolted from the silverites and both factions will put out candidates for the governorship.

Plenty of Contests.

Augusta, Me., May 26.—Hon. J. H. Manley has sent to Chairman Carter of the Republican national committee, a letter notifying him that contests have been filed with him involving the rights of 128 delegates.

MICHIGAN'S AWFUL STORM.

Further Particulars of Monday's Terrible Cyclone.

NEARLY FIFTY WERE KILLED.

For Many Miles It Left Ruin and Desolation in Its Path—Names of Those Killed or Seriously Injured—Other Details.

Detroit, Mich., May 26.—The cyclone which devastated the northern portion of Oakland county last evening swept a path a half mile wide and 16 miles long west to east clearing the earth of nearly everything movable. About 40 persons were killed outright, and fully that number were injured, some of whom will die.

West of Ortonville.

The cyclone first struck earth six miles west of Ortonville, and passed half a mile north of that village. In these six miles of devastated country before Ortonville was reached, 14 persons were killed, and about 20 injured, some fatally.

The first house to feel the effects of the storm was that of Joshua Johnson. The storm had not obtained all of its fury and the building was only partially demolished, Mr. Johnson escaping injury and his wife's baby being only slightly injured.

A mile further east stood the home and barns of William Mitchell, not a trace of which is left, but the foundation walls. Mrs. Mitchell, her son Claude and a baby, Jay Mitchell, 9 months old, were instantly killed. The father was seriously bruised and internally injured, and will probably die. A big sliver was driven square into the center of his forehead. All of his stock was killed. Don, another son, is seriously hurt.

There is nothing but foundations to show where the home of Abram Quick, who lived across the way, stood. Six occupants of the house were killed and one was seriously injured. Prescott Wilkins, one of those killed in the Quick home, had reached there on a visit but an hour before the cyclone tore its way through.

The home of Henry Flamboy was next destroyed and himself, his wife and two children seriously injured. A mile east of Flamboy's the cyclone demolished the house of John Porritt. The death list in this home reaches four. The wind cloud passed on and next wrecked the home of Benjamin Westby. Mr. Westby, and his wife's two children were buried in the ruins, but all were gotten out with severe injuries.

John Frost was the next victim of the storm. His house was completely wrecked and his wife seriously hurt.

The home of John Milkie, on a line with Ortonville, was unharmed, but his barns were wiped out. Mr. Milkie and his son John, aged 15, were in a barn when it was demolished. The son was instantly killed and the father is in a critical condition.

Ortonville to Oakwood.

In the next half dozen miles between Ortonville and the little settlement of Oakwood, the cyclone seemed to lose some of its force, or the farmers living in that section were particularly lucky. The cyclone traveled the road as straight as an arrow's flight, spreading out or contracting as it went along.

Eighteen farm houses were destroyed in the path of the storm from Ortonville to Oakwood, but only two persons were killed. Four others were probably fatally injured and 8 or 10 more or less seriously hurt.

The names of the dead in this section are: Mrs. Clarke Eaton, Ed Fifield. Fatally injured: Harvey Francis, Mrs. Ed Fifield, Nelson Chapman. Injured: Mr. and Mrs. Sylverton Smith and two children; Mrs. Green, John Clark, Mrs. Francis and children.

Ill Fated Oakwood.

The cloud struck Oakwood almost without warning, and there is little left of that little village. The Methodist Episcopal and Congregational churches, the town hall, all the principal business houses and most of the residences were left in ruins. Nine persons were killed in the village and many injured.

Those who met death were: Mrs. N. B. Wolverton, Mrs. Ed Howe, Miss Nina Howe, Orrin Howe, a 2-year-old baby, Mrs. Wells, Eugenia Fifield, Mrs. Jessie May Fifield, Libbey Davidson, Mrs. Stewart, Baby Davis.

These seriously injured are: Mrs. Kate Davidson, may die; Bertram Davidson, may die; Wesley Davidson, may die; Geo. Fifield, leg broken and knee cap torn off; Will Carr, arm broken and back wrenched; James Brush, arm broken; Mrs. Anna Tinsey, of Pontiac, several ribs broken.

Oakwood to Thomas.

The three-mile stretch from Oakwood to Thomas is a scene of heart-rending desolation and wreckage. Everything in the path of the cyclone was levelled. In and around Thomas, the death list is large and many are injured. The dead and injured between Oakwood and Thomas and in the latter village are:

Dead: Mrs. Van Wagoner, Charles Hicks, Rev. C. M. Pretchyplace, Andrew Pettibone, M. Bremeyer.

Injured: Leroy Hicks, skull crushed; William Althouse, internal injuries; Mrs. R. Copeman, internally and seriously; Charles Bradley, arm crushed; Amy Kidder, crushed by timbers, probably fatally; Abram Reed, arm broken; Mrs. A. M. Kidder, badly bruised by debris; George Hibler, both legs and arm broken; Joe ——, a farm hand employed by Dr. Suiter, head bruised; E. B. Knapp, slightly injured by falling on glass and plaster.

A Divided Storm.

After completing its work of destruction at Thomas, the cyclone evidently separated, one section going northeast and doing an immense amount of damage between Thomas and Dryden in Lapeer county, and the other following a southeasterly direction to North Oxford.

The list of dead at and near North Oxford follows: Claire E. Laidlaw, 3-weeks-old baby, Mrs. Oscar Slade, 35 years old; Sole Rame, Tom Bishop, Joseph Smedley, Sr.; Joseph Smedley, Jr.; Mrs. Thomas Bennett, at Dryden. One unknown man and woman at Whigville.

Injured: Neil Mathewson, Oscar Slade, leg broken; George Bosse, head hurt; Will Allen, cut on head; Mrs. Will Allen, bruised; Mrs. A. Pettibone, severe cuts; Thomas Bennett, three ribs broken, recovery doubtful; Mrs. Joseph Smedley, Sr., probably fatally; Mrs. Joseph Smedley, Jr., slightly injured; John Peters, slightly.

Mt. Clemens Ravaged.

After leaving North Oxford the path of the southeast cyclone is marked at intervals, until Mt. Clemens is reached, where great damage was done and many persons injured. The injured are:

Mrs. Anna Pohl, a widow, back broken, cannot live; Henry Pohl, aged 14, hip broken, injured internally; Adolph Pohl, aged 12, right leg broken, bruised about shoulders and body; Willie Pohl, aged 10, recovery doubtful; Mrs. Joseph Harder, injured internally, cut about head and arms; Russell Carter, head and face cut; Mrs. Russell Carter, injured internally, breast and shoulders bruised, recovery doubtful; Baby Carter, head badly cut; Gustave Cutche, cut on head and right arm broken; Mrs. William Ormsby, left arm broken and badly cut on ——; Anna Belle Teibo, left arm broken; ——, arm injured, skull fractured.

The next heard from this storm was at Walkerville, Ontario, 20 miles ——— of Mt. Clemens. The cyclone ——— expended its force after striking ———, as no other reports of damage have been received.

The Northern Storm.

After passing Dryden and W——— in Lapeer county, the next heard ——— other storm was in Sanilac ———, miles away, at the village of ———, which was nearly swept away. The funnel-shaped cloud struck a mile west of the village and in a path ——— wide and six and a half miles ——— the shore of Lake Huron, every ——— ing was more or less damaged.

WORSE THAN SUPPOSED.

Additional Deaths and Losses Reported from the Iowa Cyclone.

Des Moines, Ia., May 26.—The reports from the storm stricken country ——— and Jasper counties, which ——— to-day indicate that the storm's ——— even worse than was at first ——— The property loss is much ——— was thought. The list of dead is now over a score, and it is probable there will be five or six more deaths. There are a number of victims in critical condition.

Mrs. Charles Phelan of Valeria is expected to die at any time. She was the mother of the Charles Phelan ———, six of whose nine members are now dead. Their funerals were held to-day at Valeria, and the six coffins were buried in the same grave in the presence of an immense throng of people.

Mrs. Schell, who lives at the home of William Osborne, has died of her injuries. The others of the Osborne family will recover.

Mrs. Cretia Whitney has died. She was an aged lady and very poor, she lived with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Akin, who had a child killed.

Relief parties went through the district to-day from Des Moines and Colfax, and public meeting will be held here to-morrow to raise funds to help the destitute. Fully two score of homes have been wiped out of existence; in every case there is no salvage at all. Some of the families are very poor, and it will be necessary to raise several thousand dollars. Most of the property damaged was north-west of Valeria in Jasper county. The supervisors of Polk and Jasper counties will meet to-morrow to appropriate for the relief work.

POWDER AND LIGHTENING.

Unpleasant Combination Effected Near Fort Scott.

Fort Scott, Kansas, May 26.—During a heavy electrical storm this ——— lightning struck one of the seven large buildings of the Laflin-Rand Powder company at Turck, Cherokee county, Kansas, and an awful explosion followed ——— of the burning powder shooting 500 feet in the air. The report was heard for twenty miles. The plant was established in 1880 and cost $200,000. Owing to the distance of the plant from a telegraph office no details can be learned. It is feared that many lives were lost, as the factory runs a large night force.

THE CASINO SEASON.

An Effort Will Be Made to Open the Popular Resort.

It is the intention of the Broadmoor people to have the Casino open this summer as usual if the citizens will show a proper interest in the matter. There has already been a great deal of inquiry, and many of the patrons were getting quite anxious about it. In a few days the citizens will be given an opportunity to subscribe for tickets, and it is hoped that the response will be as liberal as in former years. With the crowds that are sure to come this year, it would not seem right to have the Casino dark. It is proposed to have the usual season of ten weeks. A fine orchestra can now be secured which Professor Stark recommends highly, but if they are secured the tickets must be taken immediately. Mr. Buckman is agitating the matter, which is a pretty good guarantee that it will go through.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Chamber of Commerce Will Elect Officers.

One Thursday evening next occurs the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. It will be a most important meeting and should be attended by every member of the chamber and by every one who ought to be a member—and this includes every one who has any interest in Colorado Springs. During the last few years of financial stringency the chamber became somewhat disorganized, so far as its membership and finances were concerned; but although practically without resources the secretary has managed to carry the work along, continuously maintaining the office and the efficiency of the routine work and meeting every special emergency as it presented itself. A vast deal of good work has been done, but vastly more can be done with the co-operation of the citizens generally and with some little money in the treasury with which to work. With returning and increasing prosperity it is time that this important institution should be put on its feet and in position to do this larger work. The foundations have been well laid. It is known far and wide as the institution which represents the business and general interests of Colorado Springs and the Pike's Peak region, and it is appealed to for information from literally every quarter of the globe. It is in position to be made an institution of great weight and influence in the further development of Colorado Springs, and all that is necessary is the general co-operation of the citizens. Our city is growing and our business interests are extending, and hence the work of the chamber should be correspondingly broadened, enlisting the activities of a larger number of its members. The time for this broadening of the work of the chamber and its virtual reorganization has been patiently waited for, but is now believed to be fully ripe. If every one will take hold the work will be easy and the results most gratifying.

The meeting occurs on Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the room of the District Court No. 1. Let it be a rousing one.

DISTRICT COURT.

Burglars Sentenced in the First Division Yesterday—Damage Suit in Second.

Judge Lunt yesterday denied the motion for a new trial for Fales and Clark, the men convicted of having burglar tools in their possession. Fales was then sentenced to the penitentiary for one year, and Clark for fifteen months.

A. T. Petty was sent to jail for sixty days for obtaining money under false pretenses.

People vs. Creagan; set for trial June 3.

Second Division.

In the second division the suit of Albert Kurzman against the city of Colorado Springs took most of the time. Kurzman was hurt by falling into a coal hole near the Gazette building, and brings suit against the city for $25,000. He is represented by Vanatta & Cunningham and Mr. Goudy appears for the city. The evidence for the plaintiff was taken, and the defense then moved for a non-suit. This the court refused. The evidence for the defense will be taken this morning.

The suit of McKnight vs. Henry was dismissed by the plaintiff; also the suit of Ronbright et al. vs. Smith, dismissed by the plaintiff.

THE BAPTIST ANNIVERSARIES.

The Final Session for 1896 Was Held Last Evening.

AN APPEAL TO THE CZAR.

Asked to Intervene In Behalf of Armenians—Methodist Bishops Were Consecrated—Proceedings of the Presbyterian Assembly.

Asbury Park, N. J., May 26.—The concluding day of the Baptist anniversaries was begun by an address before the Home Mission society by the Rev. C. A. Woody of Oregon. His subject was "Fifty Years' Work on the Pacific Coast."

The next speaker was H. C. Woods, Bishop of Colorado. He spoke on "Chapel Building in the West."

The officers of the Home Missionary society were elected: President, H. K. Porter, Pennsylvania; vice presidents, E. M. ——, Minnesota; Stephen Green, Massachusetts; treasurer, J. Greenwood Stelling, New York; recording secretary, A. S. Hobart, Yonkers, N. Y.; corresponding secretary, Thomas J. Morgan, New York.

The financial committee's report stated that while the debt of the society has been reduced nearly $2,000 during the past year, the outlook for the coming year indicate that the debt will be increased to $10,000, if the present rate of expenditure is continued and no special help comes.

The committee on resolutions reported the following which was adopted: "That a petition to the Czar of Russia, crowned to-day, be forwarded through the proper channels, asking the exertion of his kind offices in behalf of suffering Christians in Armenia."

The final session of the Baptist anniversaries was held this evening and was devoted to work among foreigners in America. A vote of thanks to Founder Bradley for the use of the auditorium and other courtesies was passed, and the Baptist anniversaries for 1896 were ended.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Yesterday's Proceeding in the Presbyterian Convention.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 26.—The Presbyterian general assembly opened as usual this morning with the report of Chairman Booth of the committee bills and overtures. The next important bill before the committee is the one in regard to the New York Presbytery, which disobeyed the order of last year's assembly in receiving students from the Union Theological Seminary.

The committee decided to refer the matter to the committee on church polity.

Dr. Mantfort, chairman of the judicial committee, made its report assigning four of the cases before it to special committees for trial and Rev. Dr. Kane of Indiana, chairman, read the report of the home missions committee. Its resolutions proposed radical changes in the distribution of the funds of the board. These were to the effect that moneys for home mission work were to be distributed according to the direction of the Presbyteries in whose jurisdiction the assisted churches were located. The sums thus distributed were to be determined by the exchanges of reports between the board and the presbyteries and the apportionments recommended by the presbyteries was to be final.

A second resolution recommended a thorough scrutiny of the methods of the board of home missions.

The re-election of the following trustees of the home board was recommended: Thomas Nelson, Brooklyn; James M. Ludlow and G. L. Spinning, Orange, N. J.; Elders John S. Kennedy, John F. Parsons and H. E. Howland, New York, and Charles E. Greene, Princeton.

Speeches were then made on the home mission report by Secretary McMillan, President Dr. John Hall, Trustee James S. Ramsey of New York, Dr. Agnew of Philadelphia, Dr. Hubbard of Auburn, and others, and the recommendations adopted.

At the afternoon session, Chairman Booth reported an answer to an overture which was adopted, proposing the establishment of a court of arbitration for the examination and termination of international disputes. The report of the committee on aid for colleges was read and this was followed by a renewal of the discussion on the Young People's society matter, the subject being the adoption of a resolution authorizing a reconsideration of the matter of Young People's societies by the Breed committee, with instructions for submitting to the presbyteries a plan of forming an independent denominational union. After a long discussion, this resolution was stricken out. A clause providing for inter-denominational fellowship of Young People's societies was stricken out. On motion, the Breed committee was discharged and the report thus emasculated by the Christian Endeavor leaders was then adopted as a whole amid great applause of the assembly. Adjourned.

CONSECRATED.

The Newly Elected Bishops of the Methodist Church.

Cleveland, O., May 26.—Charles Cardwell McCabe, Earl Cranston and Joseph Crane Hartsell were consecrated as bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church at Central armory this morning. There was an immense congregation present, nearly every seat in the big auditorium being filled. The consecration was most impressive.

At 11:30 a. m. the bishops of the church, the bishops-elect and those assisting in the ceremony filed in and took their seats on the platform. Bishop Bowman, the "beloved senior bishop," who has served the church in that capacity since 1872, presided.

The collect was recited by Bishop Vincent, the epistle was read by Bishop Thoburn, and the gospel by Bishop Taylor.

The Rev. L. D. McCabe, D. D., and the Rev. T. C. Iliff presented Bishop-elect McCabe; the Rev. D. L. Rader and the Rev. R. S. Rust presented Earl Cranston; Joseph Crane Hartsell was presented by the Rev. M. C. B. Mason and the Rev. Samuel L. Beiler. After prayer by Bishop Fitzgerald of New Orleans, the examination and invocation was conducted by Bishop Andrews. It was the most solemn part of the service. Every voice in the armory was hushed and every ear strained to catch the questions of the bishop and the answers of the candidates.

Then followed "the laying on of hands," presentation of the Bible. The congregation sang a hymn and the benediction was pronounced by Bishop Foster.

People flocked from all parts of the house to congratulate the newly made bishops and the platform was crowded for a long time with a surging crowd of enthusiastic Methodists, eager to greet those who were to guide the destinies of a religious force which numbers over 3,000,000 souls.

To-night had been set aside for the anniversary of the temperance work and the auditorium was decorated accordingly, a large banner inscribed, "The saloon must go," hanging at one end of the building. The decision of the conference to hold no evening session for business spoiled the plan for a great temperance rally, but the rules were suspended and the next 30 minutes were given over to the temperance organization.

The remainder of the report of the committee on constitution was then taken up.

There was a sharp debate over an attempt to give laymen equal rights with the ministerial delegates to preside pro tem. over the general conference in case there is no bishop present to preside. One amendment looking to that end was tabled, but Dr. Buckley introduced another and made a strong speech favoring the acknowledgment of the laymen's rights to preside.

Dr. Neely opposed the amendment and thought that no reference should be made to the order from which the president pro tem. should be selected. This view finally prevailed, the reference being stricken out and the section adopted. Adjourned.

FIFTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

Yesterday's Proceedings in the Senate and House.

Washington, May 26.—The House measure known as the "filled cheese" bill, came up before the Senate to-day under the lead of Senator Sherman, who reported it from the Senate Committee on Finance. Its object is to discourage the manufacture and sale of an adulterated article of food by imposing a heavy license on manufacturers and wholesale dealers; and its supporters advocated its passage, not as a revenue measure, but as a protection to dairymen and the general public. It had not been many minutes before the Senate when it was converted from a merely nominal to an actual revenue measure by an amendment adding to it a section imposing an additional tax of 75 cents a barrel on beer, ale and porter. This amendment was offered by Mr. Dubois of Idaho, in order to offset Mr. Sherman's criticisms of the Senate for proposing to adjourn without providing a sufficient revenue for the treasury. If adopted this amendment will bring into the treasury, according to Mr. Dubois's statement, $25,000,000—about enough to supply the estimated deficiency.

Mr. Sherman antagonized the amendment as something that was intended to defeat the pending measure, or at least would have that effect and he moved to lay the amendment on the table. This motion was defeated by a yea and nay vote—25 to 31. Seven Democratic Senators, Messrs. Cockrell, Hill, Mitchell (Wisconsin), Palmer, Pasco, Turpie and Vilas voted aye, while an equal number of the Republican Senators, Messrs. Brown, Cannon, Carter, Dubois, Hansbrough, Pettigrew and Teller, voted no. The five Populist Senators present, Messrs. Allen, Butler, Kyle, Peffer and Stewart, also voted no, giving the preponderance to the negative side. And so the Senate refused to table Mr. Dubois's amendment, and it was up for discussion and was pending until the conclusion of the morning hour, when the prohibitory bond bill came up as the unfinished business.

The debate on the bond bill did not present many points of interest. Mr. Pritchard of North Carolina, was the first speaker. He intimated his willingness to vote for his colleague's bill in a certain contingency, which contingency, however, would not present itself if Congress would before adjournment pass an act that would provide a sufficient revenue on the lines of protection to American industries.

Mr. Lindsay of Kentucky opposed the bond bill as a measure that would within 60 days produce a suspension of specie payment; and he expressed his belief that if Congress adjourned without providing additional revenue there would be another issue of government bonds at an early day. The bond bill went over without action.

The final conference report on the executive, legislative and judicial appropriation bill was presented, discussed and agreed to; and a partial conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill was also presented, agreed to, and a further conference ordered.

At 6:15 the Senate proceeded to executive business and soon afterwards adjourned until to-morrow.

HOUSE.

Washington, May 26.—With an amendment the House to-day by a vote of 153 to 62 passed the bill of repeal section 61 of the Wilson tariff bill of 1894, which provides for free alcohol in the arts and manufactures. The affirmative vote was composed of 104 Republicans, 36 Democrats and 3 Populists, the negative vote of 59 Republicans and 3 Democrats. The amendment was adopted as recommended by the Committee on Ways and Means providing for the appointment of a joint committee of three Senators and three Representatives to sit during the recess and investigate the subject with a view to reporting to the next session of Congress a form of regulations under which the free use of alcohol may be had without danger to the revenues of the government. There was vigorous opposition to the bill from the Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey and New York delegations in the interest of manufacturers of these and other States, but they were unable to muster enough votes upon any proposition to amend the bill or to defeat its passage.

The House disagreed to all the Senate amendments to the general deficiency appropriation bill except that making provision to pay French spoliation and war claims allowed under the Bowman act, amounting altogether to nearly $2,000,000. As to these a vote upon concurrence in the Senate amendments will be taken to-morrow.

A further partial conference report upon the Indian appropriation bill was presented and agreed to. It provides for the continuance of the Dawes Indian commission.

The President's veto of the bill for the relief of B. F. Jones, ex-postmaster at Beauregard, Miss., was read and referred to the Committee on Claims.

The contested election case of Johnston (Rep.) vs. Stokes (Dem.), from the Seventh district of South Carolina, was taken up and Mr. Jenkins (Rep.) of Wisconsin opened the debate in support of the committee report in favor of Stokes, the sitting member. Without concluding his speech, he yielded the floor and at 5:45 o'clock the House adjourned until to-morrow.

PROHIBITION CONVENTION.

Delegates Assembling at Pittsburg—Some Preliminary Skirmishes.

Pittsburg, May 26.—During the day and to-night, many delegates to the national Prohibition convention, which opens here to-morrow, held caucuses and selected committees.

At a general conference of the delegates who favor a broad-gauge platform, it was decided to push Mr. C. E. Bentley, of Nebraska, for President; J. H. Southgate, of North Carolina, for Vice President; and T. B. Logan, of Ohio, for chairman of the national committee.

At the meeting of the national committee, A. A. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, was elected temporary chairman. He is anti-free silver.

The general conference was barred

News of the Day.

Vincennes, Ind., May 26.—The report of a riot at Fort Branch to-day was false. A fight occurred between gamblers and Lent's circus men over a shell game, but no one was seriously injured.

THE BRIDGE COLLAPSED.

Nearly a Hundred People Drowned At Victoria.

A STREET CAR SUBMERGED.

A Number of Private Carriages Were Also Precipitated Into a Swift Current—Number Lost Can Only Be Guessed At.

Victoria, B. C., May 26.—The most terrible accident that ever took place in this vicinity occurred about 2 o'clock this afternoon, when an electric car and several private carriages fell through the Point Ellice bridge into an arm of the James Bay.

A sham battle at Macauley Point was on the programme to-day as part of the celebration of the Queen's birthday, and nearly the whole of the population of the city had gone out to witness it. Victoria prolongs the celebration of the Queen's birthday more than many of the older cities, and celebrates it more enthusiastically. The day was practically a holiday in the city.

The electric cars running out to the scene of the battle had been over-crowded all the forenoon. Every car was full, not only inside, but as many as could do so clung on the outside as well.

At 2 p. m. a large and heavily laden car left Government street, having upward of 150 people on board. When the middle span of the traffic bridge, about 150 feet in length, was reached, it collapsed, throwing the car and a number of carriages and foot passengers into the water 50 feet beneath.

The car was completely submerged and all save a few who were on the platforms and roof, were drowned. A number were killed by falling timbers, and a few escaped by clinging to the floating ruins of the bridge.

The number of carriages lost and the foot passengers carried down in the wreck cannot be learned. It is claimed by many that fully 20 persons went down with the span and that more than half of them perished. The accident occurred so quickly that nobody has a very clear recollection of what transpired.

Superintendent J. Wilson of the C. P. R. Telegraphs, was driving a carriage containing his wife and five children directly behind the ill-fated car. His vehicle was swept down and in a moment the entire family were struggling in the water. With rare presence of mind, Mr. Wilson succeeded in saving his wife and four of the children. The fifth child, a little boy, was wedged beneath some wreckage and drowned.

A number of bodies have been carried out of the harbor by the out-going tide, which runs at not less than seven knots an hour at the point where the accident occurred. Owing to the fact that nearly every kind of craft in the city was engaged for the day, boats were hard to procure, and the work of rescue was somewhat slow. Steam and naphtha launches were hurried to the scene, and in this particular the boats of the various warships were the most active. Scores of people who were floundering in the water, or clinging to debris, were picked up and taken to places of safety, but many sank before the eyes of the rescuers ere they could be reached. The sad affair has cast a deep gloom over the city. The naval review and sham battle were cancelled, as were all other sports planned for the afternoon.

It is believed now that 50 or 60 persons were drowned, but it is as yet impossible to ascertain the real number. It is difficult to learn who were on the car, when it took the fatal plunge, and it is equally difficult to learn how many escaped. It will probably be several days before the real extent of the disaster can be learned.

Later—Up to 10:30 p. m., 62 bodies have been taken from the bay. Twenty persons known to have been on the bridge at the time of the accident are missing, and it is supposed that they have perished. The car register shows 90 fares, and it is probable that over 125 were on board.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Brooklyn-Louisville.

Brooklyn, May 26.—Two thousand people greeted the Brooklyn players to-day on their return from their Western trip. The home players came within a hair of again losing, but Kennedy steadied down when men were on the bases. Clarke's catch of a long drive was the feature. Score: Brooklyn, 4; Louisville, 3.

Washington-Cincinnati.

Washington, May 26.—The Washington team returned home to-day, after a trip of 21 games, and played about as listless a game of baseball as has ever been witnessed here. Mercer's pitching was exceedingly weak, but owing to this being ladies' day he was kept in the box. On the other hand the Cincinnati team gave a wholesome exhibition of the national game. Attendance 9000. Score: Washington, 6; Cincinnati, 18.

Baltimore-St. Louis.

Baltimore, May 26.—Hart was effective to-day until the fourth inning, when six singles, a two-bagger and two passes to first netted the champions seven runs. Kissenger, who relieved him, did little better. Both teams played a fast game in the field. Attendance 2800. Score: Baltimore, 13; St. Louis, 3.

New York-Cleveland.

New York, May 26.—Five thousand persons welcomed the New Yorks home from their Western trip to-day, and went wild over the victory scored over the Clevelands. Both pitchers did well, and the battle teemed with brilliant plays. Weather cloudy and warm. Score: New York, 5; Cleveland, 4.

Boston-Pittsburg.

No game between Boston and Pittsburg; wet grounds.

Philadelphia-Chicago.

Philadelphia, May 26.—The Phillies defeated Chicago to-day by superior all-round play. Orth was invincible, and held the Westerners down to five hits. Hulen's work at short was notable. Attendance 4850. Score: Philadelphia, 8; Chicago, 1.

The Education Bill the Chief Interest in English Politics.

HOME RULE VIOLATED BY IT.

An Advance in Sugar Prices is Inevitable—American Artists Lead at the Royal Academy—An International Conference.

London, May 26.—The scene in the House of Commons Friday morning during the discussion of the agricultural rating bill, when several members were suspended after being "named" by the Speaker, recalled the session of 15 years ago, when Irish questions were prominently to the fore. There is a promise that there will be many such scenes during the present session. The all-night sitting of the House was a surprise to the manager of the refreshment rooms, who had made no provision to supply the members with breakfast. At 5 o'clock in the morning his supplies were exhausted and there was a large crowd demanding that their wants be supplied. The manager, however, proved himself worthy of the occasion. He awakened a number of caterers in the vicinity of the House and finally bought up their supplies and the entire contents of a fish shop. All these supplies were conveyed to the House of Commons by cabs. Afterwards the manager stopped a number of market-bound wagons and bought a thousand eggs and was thus able to meet the demands that were made upon him by the hungry members who soon cleared the refreshment room of all its provisions.

The morning papers contained full reports of the night's proceedings and much interest was excited. Saturday morning many prominent members of society went to the House to see the sport and the galleries were soon full. Among the visitors were many ladies whose husbands had been compelled to stay away from home all night and they had the pleasure of seeing their liege lords attired in evening dress which they had worn the previous evening, dozing on the benches. The Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, had presided at the South Africa banquet at the Hotel Metropole early in the evening and had gone thence to the House in full evening dress, which in the early morning seemed entirely out of place, but he had no time to change his attire. The debate in itself was not amusing and often the participants could not curb their angry feelings.

An Irish Convention.

The decision of the Irish National party in the House of Commons to convene a national convention of Irishmen from all parts of the world in Dublin in September, does not find favor among the Redmondites. Patrick O'Brien says he only wants to wipe his boots on the proposal.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech at the South African banquet Thursday night is condemned by his opponents for its undertone of menace towards President Kruger. Nevertheless the anti-Boer feeling increases.

The Queen's Birthday.

Prime Minister Salisbury's reception at the Foreign Office on Wednesday last in celebration of the Queen's birthday was the grandest function of the season. Among those present were the Duchess of York and the Princess of Wales, who were bejeweled beyond custom, but they did not equal the Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt of New York, who wore a belt of diamonds two inches deep and a tiara worth thousands of pounds.

"The Shop Girl," which has scored a phenomenal success at the Gaiety theater, will shortly be withdrawn. Olga Nethersole will open the season at this theater on June 6 with "Carmen."

American Artists Lead.

The taste of the public endorses the judgment of the critics, who, at the opening of the Royal Academy exhibition, assigned the honors of the year to American art. The crowds which daily throng the galleries are unanimous in according the first place among the portraits to Mr. Sargent's picture of Mrs. Chamberlain; while Mr. Abbey's scene from "King Richard III." is undoubtedly the picture of the year, and has always an admiring crowd before it. It attracts not only on account of its masterly composition and suggestiveness, but also by its exquisite painting and richness of color. There is nothing more strikingly brilliant in the whole exhibition than the vivid crimson of Crookback's robe.

On the other hand, the admirers of Mr. Boughton are disappointed with his present contributions, which are regarded as falling short of his best work.

Sugar Market Prospects.

A representative of the United Press with a view to getting accurate information regarding the prospects of the sugar market has seen several of the best [illegible] concerned therein. The supply from July, 1895, to July, 1896, was estimated at [illegible] [illegible] the preceding year. The [illegible]

have pledged themselves to stand by the non-conformists in trying to obtain some protection against the clauses which commit the schools to the control of the English clergy. Practically their pledge is worthless, and is so considered by the Radicals. Wherever the clauses concede to the English clergy a dominating power, they also grant the same to the Catholic clergy. The bill being in its essence a sectarian measure, all sects, having ostensibly though not equal privileges, would require to be thoroughly emasculated before it would meet the ideals of the non-conformists, who maintain that the compromise on the first education bill of 1870 is sufficient to meet all claims, sectarian and non-sectarian. There is now no doubt about the all-important issue of the Irish party's desertion of the Liberals. The Irish are Catholic first and home-rulers a long way afterwards. They have selected to deny the first principle of home rule in forcing upon the English people a measure partly English, that is detested by the mass of the English electorate. Their promises to help amend the bill in committee are rightly taken by the Radicals for what they are worth. The rupture between Liberal home rulers and the Irish parties, if not publicly announced, is not the less complete. Henceforth, Ireland must seek for what measure of home rule it can get in the Chamberlain county council schemes, which will be the crowning measure of the present government and the great final act of the existing Parliament. The Liberals will enter upon a process of rehabilitation, going back to the old party Parliament as once democratic and national, freed from the taint of Irish separatism, and the suspicion of socialistic tendencies, both of which were the main factors of their tremendous defeat at the last elections. The Liberals can now look forward to a grand resurgence. Belief in the recovery of the party is seen in recent accessions to the National Liberal club. Last year there was a decrease of over 500 in membership. Within the quarter year just closed that has been made up—and what is more, the new members are largely wealthy men, including most of the old Liberal peers, and many Unionists.

Mr. Gladstone's View.

The Chronicle a few days ago telegraphed to Mr. Gladstone asking for guidance in the matter. In reply, Mr. Gladstone says: "I blame the Irish little; the non-conformists more, and the Parnellites by far the most," making a distinction between "Irish" and "Parnellites" that nobody is able to understand, unless by Irish he means the anti-Parnellites. This reply has satisfied nobody. The peacemakers eagerly seize upon the Irish promises to have the bill amended, but as stated, these are of no value as the event will prove. Those who are against an open warfare agree with the editor of The Chronicle, that home rule is based upon British honor and imperial interests and is absolutely unaffected by the present trouble. Nevertheless it is clear that the two wings of the opposition will not work cordially together again. The width of the chasm is shown by a prominent article published in The Methodist Times Thursday, under the caption: "The Death of Gladstonian Home Rule."

The article said that when Mr. John Dillon sat down after speaking in favor of the education bill, Gladstone home rule uttered its last sigh and died. So ends one of the most heroic, tragic and distressing chapters in the history of England.

The government intends to closure the bill by sections.

The Standard today says that the struggle over the agricultural rating bill is regarded as the prelude to the struggle over the education bill, over which the feeling is much keener. The opposition intends to resist every line of the measure. The moderate Liberal press is beginning to show dislike to the present class of sectarian legislation.

The Statist, referring to the increase in the German army, says that the British government knowing the dangers by which it is confronted, absolutely refuses to take warning from the experience of the last few months and refers to throw largesse to the landlords and clergy.

International Sugar Conference.

The prominent officials of the Board of Trade, consulted by the government as to the advisability of an international conference on sugar bounties, have advised against England taking the initiative in summoning a conference. The Ministers had apparently forgotten or never knew anything about the last abortive London conference, which sat for months, wrangling over preferential duties and cognate features of the sugar laws, only to ascertain that international agreement was impossible. The Foreign Office has instructed its commercial official in Paris to negotiate a new conference to be held in Paris. Not much is officially hoped from any conference, but the key of the position is France. If France relinquishes the bounty system, all other countries will. It is said that the French government has responded favorably to the reports from London and is communicating on the subject with Berlin and Vienna. Ex-Prime Minister Rosebery has started for Gibraltar, and will then proceed on a cruise on the Mediterranean.

Mr. Zola and the Academy.

M. Zola's chance of being elected a member of the French Academy is now believed to be better than ever before. Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent livery-man and merchant of Gorhen, Va. has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain and the use of one bottle completely cured him.

WHITE MEN'S RIGHTS.

The Supreme Court of the United States has at last decided, in a test case brought before it, a point which has made trouble in the West for years, and which last summer threatened to lead to an Indian war. The root of the trouble at Jackson's Hole was the question whether the Indians are amenable to the law, or whether they are so protected by treaties with the United States that they are entirely outside of and above the law of the States wherein they reside.

Of course the Western view was that the Indians are no more privileged than white men to hunt in the close season, or to violate any other of the game laws, or other laws, of the State wherein they are; but it was maintained by many Eastern papers, and more especially by the Indian Rights association, that the Indians are not amenable to the law of the State at all, being foreign nations, and not within the jurisdiction of any State.

The particular case which has been decided settles the question, once and for all. Race Horse is a Bannock Indian who violated the State game law of Wyoming last year, and he was arrested for violating it, and tried, and the case was carried up to the Supreme Court. With the exception of Justice Brown, the court is unanimous in deciding that the Indians have no right to hunt in contravention of the game laws of the State wherein they reside.

The particular case is not of much importance, perhaps, but the principle involved is of great importance to all the Western States, and the inhabitants of them all will be glad of the decision. At the time of the Jackson's Hole trouble, it seemed that the Federal government was committed to the idea that the white people had no rights—except possibly that to life—which the Indians are bound to respect. White hunters would be arrested for killing a single animal during the close season; but the Indians, protected by their treaties, could go out in the close season and slaughter wantonly thousands of animals, and, taking their hides off, leave the carcasses to rot, and the State authorities could do nothing to them, while the Federal authorities would do nothing. This decision of the court will put an end to that sort of indiscriminate slaughter, while it establishes a principle of the greatest value to every State which contains any Indians within its borders.

CONQUEST BY JOINT STOCK COMPANY.

The report of the British South Africa company "on the company's proceedings and the condition of the territories within the sphere of its operations, 1895," lies before us. Its perusal at the present time recalls the biblical adage that "pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall." It was written in a self-complacent frame of mind before the tide reversed. The man who is now on trial in the Bow Street police court, London, figures in the document as His Honor Dr. Leander S. Jameson, C. B., administrator. One of the men who has since been under sentence of death at Pretoria reports as Colonel W. F. Rhodes, D. S. O., on his work in organizing the Matabeleland native police, whom he pronounces to be "a very smart body of men." He and his fellows appear in the light of later events to have been more smart than wise.

The report in its purpose resembles the publications of one of our Territorial immigration bureaus. It would serve roughly as a guide-book to those wishing to remove to South Africa from England, giving the fares and length of time on the various water and land routes, the prices of outfits at different stations, and points on dealing with the natives. People are warned that "unbroken" horses only cost half as much as salted ones, but the former are liable to die from "horse sickness," a disease peculiar to the country from which the salted stock have recovered and against which they are immunized. In other words the report is published to promote and aid immigration into Rhodesia, to conquer central South Africa forever by colonizing it. Other European nations are at serious disadvantage as against England in the race for colonies either because they are unable to send forth such annual swarms of excess population, or because their people have not the courage and ingenuity, and hardihood, that would fit them to open up a new country.

To Americans, accustomed to local self-government where even two or three persons are gathered together for residence, it seems strange to see an empire managed by a joint stock company. It appears odd for a board of directors not only to decide on expenditures and dividends, but to make laws about infanticide and witchcraft; not only to build railroads, but to set up courts of justice; to have in its service yoke oxen and mounted police, and virtually missionary bishops as well as gatling guns. It is colonization modernized and pushed ahead by electricity and steam. By such methods the company has driven a great blunt wedge between the Portuguese on the east coast, and those on the west coast, between the German and the Boer republics.

The war of conquest, which goes on even when the rifles are pointed only at targets, is made to support itself. The company never gives up its claim to royalty on the products of mines, developed within its territory. Besides it is itself a stockholder in many of the large mining companies. The railroads and telegraph lines are expected to pay their own way and more, a hut tax of ten shillings per hut is imposed on the natives wherever they have been subdued, and a regular scale of prices is fixed at which live stock will be received in payment. Land is granted to actual settlers under what corresponds to our homestead law. The occupant must pay the expenses of survey and of issuing title, gives to the company a reservation of all precious stones, minerals and mineral oils with right of ingress and egress, pays down one shilling and sixpence per "morgen," about seventeen cents per acre, and an annual quit-rent of three pounds sterling per 100 morgen of land. The details of the regulations regarding mineral reservations would seem to open the way for some beautiful land title litigation if the property should ever be greatly valuable.

Naturally the tone of the reports from the different sections is persistently optimistic. If things are not all right they are just going to be. Incidentally droughts, locusts, rinder-pest, "horse sickness," and an assorted lot of fevers are mentioned. The cases of malarial fever almost invariably originate outside the boundaries of the district that reports them. This is one of the world-wide characteristics of malarial fever, and confirms the impression that South Africa has the genuine article.

On the whole the report is very British, especially in the light of events that have occurred since it was published.

BOWLER IS NO LONGER CO-ORDINATE.

Mr. Bowler, comptroller of the treasury, has been sat upon by the Supreme Court. He is no longer a co-ordinate department of the government with the Congress. The court has decided that he must pay the sugar bounty which he declared unconstitutional and refused to pay; and he will have to do it or resign.

Under the McKinley law, a bounty was to be paid to the sugar-growers, instead of the tariff on sugar which was left off. That law was repealed by this Congress, but there were bounties which were already due under the law, and an appropriation of five millions of dollars was made to pay them. When the warrants came to Mr. Bowler, he refused to pay them, and the matter had to be put into the form of a suit, and taken to the Supreme Court. Now the court has decided that the bounties were constitutional, and must be paid, and Mr. Bowler is overruled.

We have not a full report of the decision of the court, but we trust it has touched the main point at issue, which was the authority of a subordinate officer of the Treasury department to nullify the will of Congress. Incidentally, of course, the court must have decided that Mr. Bowler had no right to stop payment because of any constitutional views which he might hold; but we trust that the court has made it plain that the comptroller of the treasury is not clothed with judicial functions that permit him to withhold payment of any appropriations which in his opinion are unwise or even unconstitutional. The comptroller ought to understand that his office is clerical and subordinate, not judicial and coordinate with the Congress and the Supreme Court.

If Bowler is the man we take him for, he will never, no never, sign the warrant for these appropriations. We rather hope he will not; for then he will have to resign.

Mr. Harrity has been doing some talking about the right of delegates to participate in conventions which strikes us as having in it a good deal of common sense and common honesty. According to Mr. Harrity's notions, delegates who go into a party convention to help make a platform and nominate candidates, do so with the implied promise to abide by the action of the convention; and delegates who go to a convention with the announcement made beforehand that they do not intend to abide by its action, do not deserve to be seated in the convention at all. If Mr. Harrity's view is shared by a majority of the national Democratic convention, Mr. Charles S. Thomas of Colorado may have to stay out of the Chicago convention.

The decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States are reached much sooner than they were half a dozen years ago; a result that is partly due to Mr. Reed and the Fifty-first Congress, which relieved the court of some of the work that had been pressing upon it. It is possible to get a decision from the court now, as is proved by both the Race Horse and Bowler cases, inside of a year from the original raising of a question; which is better time than is made in most States, or even in ordinary districts.

In making arrangements for next Saturday, do not forget altogether the real reason for its being a holiday. The local post of the G. A. R. has planned for appropriate exercises, and will be aided by the militia companies and the High School cadets.

The pleasantest time of the year in the city is just beginning. Intending visitors should take notice that from now until next March we shall have the finest weather in the world.

The wind may blow a little occasionally in Colorado Springs, but we don't have to build cyclone cellars.

Senator Wolcott.

Senator Wolcott has no reason to repent, so far as he himself is concerned, the action of his party in Colorado, which through its representatives at the Pueblo convention has relinquished the advantage and distinction of sending him to St. Louis as a delegate-at-large. There is some uncertainty as to the course which the Colorado delegation will pursue under the direction of Senator Teller, by whose judgment it is instructed to abide, and as to where it will stand in the estimation of loyal Republicans and the vast majority of intelligent people when the work of the convention has been completed. But whatever happens to the Colorado delegates, the foremost citizen of Colorado is in no danger of losing the respect of the country. He has made it clear to everybody that he means to take care of his own honor, and is entirely able to do so. For the present he stays in the Republican party, and if he shall make up his mind at any time hereafter to leave it he will go out with a clean record. He can afford not to be a delegate to the St. Louis convention, but he could not have afforded to be there nominally as a Republican, under instructions to drop the mask at the bidding of another.

Senator Wolcott serves his party in Colorado and everywhere else by declining to sink to a lower standard of fidelity and patriotism than his own, and a multitude of his fellow-citizens rejoice to believe that in so doing he is likewise unselfishly serving himself. We congratulate him upon his fearless acceptance of an unusual opportunity, and we also congratulate the Republican convention of his State upon its prudence in resisting the temptation to decorate him with its censure.—(N. Y. Tribune.

England's Best President.

"The figures which indicate some of the very different results obtained by the administration of the government by Benjamin Harrison and Grover Cleveland are both interesting and instructive. Thus:

Reduction of the public debt under Harrison $310,000,000
Increase of the public debt under Cleveland 262,000,000

"If to this increase of the principal of the debt the interest shall be added, the total sum will amount to $401,500,000. And again:

Surplus receipts over expenditures, '91, '92, '93..... 50,000,000
Deficiency under Cleveland 147,000,000

"Now let us push the comparison a little farther, taking into consideration the influence of our legislation upon Great Britain:

Deficit in British budget for 1892..... $ 750,000
Surplus revenue of the United States, 1892..... 9,914,000

"This represents the situation at a time when the American government was operated solely for the advantage of Americans. The change that has taken place since the contrary policy was put into operation may be thus indicated:

Surplus in British budget, 1895..... $21,060,000
Deficit in revenues of the United States, 1896 23,000,000

"Mr. Cleveland is, by all odds, the best President of the United States that Englishmen ever had. If the Bradford manufacturers and the London bankers could control our politics absolutely he would have a third term without possibility of failure."—(The Manufacturer.

THE CUBAN SITUATION.

Queen Christina Appreciates the Situation.

Of the intensity of the feeling in Spain against both the people and the government of the United States, on account of their undisguised sympathy with the Cuban struggle to throw off the yoke of Spain, there is, of course, no question. Naturally in such a struggle as a tremendous strain on the American Constitution and temperament. A single spark like the threatened execution of the American prisoners taken on the Competitor, would explode a whole powder magazine. The explosion cannot come too soon to suit the average American. And read between the lines, Queen Christina's speech shows that Spain realizes as much.—(Syracuse News.

Gen. Weyler Finds Himself in a Box.

The trouble with General Weyler is that he has found himself unable to cope with the wily leaders of the insurgents, and in trying to find an excuse for his inaction he has sent to Madrid a statement which is likely to arouse the Spaniards to greater animosity for the American people, and it may be necessary after all for Uncle Sam to take a hand in the conflict, and to do a little meddling that will count on the side of the revolutionists.—(Cleveland Leader.

What Spanish Colonial Reform Means.

But there is a horrible state of war in Cuba. Spain has lost the island, and is murdering the people, and our sympathies are with the people. We know, as they know, that the reforms the Queen Regent of Spain refers to were unsubstantial; that no measure is possible giving Cuba self-government until Spain is out of the island. ... a colonial reform begins and ends ... captain general.—(Brooklyn Standard Union.

Might Find Employment in Chicago.

Weyler threatens to resign if he is not allowed to murder the competitor prisoners. Cannot some one provide this man with a big contract for pig-sticking or cattle-killing in the Chicago stockyards? There, at least, his thirst for blood might be made useful to carnivorous humanity. We suppose, of course, Weyler always eats his meat raw, after the fashion of the tiger which he so closely resembles.—(Elmira Advertiser.

Spaniards Are Bringing About a Climax.

In view of the proximity of Cuba to our coast, and the intimacy of commercial relations between the two countries, a carpet-bag government at Havana which punishes attempts at smuggling and other comparatively trivial crimes with death is, to say the least, a very inconvenient neighbor. The Spaniards have themselves provided the best of reasons for hoping and striving against the perpetuation so close to the doors of the United States of institutions so hostile to the American spirit.—(Philadelphia Record.

Our Cry is "Viva Cuba Libre!"

The real Americans who volunteer to go to Cuba are looking for trouble where it is sure to be found. Britishers who came over here to enlist on the Confederate side were not popular in the North. Yet the war of the rebellion was not regarded by anybody as a hen-roost robbing affair. General Weyler says the Cuban insurgents are brigands. He is in Cuba and we are up here, so we know better. We say they are high-minded patriots and shout, "Viva Cuba libre!"—(New Haven Palladium.

Americans in No Mood to Tolerate Butcheries.

The wisdom of the far-seeing statesman, rather than the savage pugnacity of the soldier, is now needed in Spain's council chambers. Unless we mistake the temper of the American people, they are in no mood to have unnecessary horrors perpetrated against their own flesh and blood in such a doubtful cause as the suppression of the Cuban movement for freedom.—(Springfield Republican.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Pioneer Societies are to be Organized in the County.

THE COMING ANNIVERSARY.

It Will be Celebrated Properly A Result will be the Perpetuating of the History of This Wonderful County.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the city of Colorado Springs is to be properly observed. That was decided yesterday at the committee meeting. It will not be done ... with the booming ... and drum, but ... will have a permanent result. Out of it will grow ... etties that will perpetuate the history of this wonderful land from ... days when it was first inhabited by white men.

A meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of Mr George H Parsons at which the report of the committee on suggestions for the celebration was received. After a full and thorough discussion a number of points were agreed to.

First it was decided that there shall be a public meeting on July 31st ... at which there shall be an address or addresses giving important facts in the history of the foundation of the city and of the early days of the country.

It was also agreed that there shall be formed two pioneer associations. One is to be called the El Paso County Pioneers Association. It is to be made up of people who have been here since ... the men who won ... Pikes Peak or Bust days. The second organization ... Colorado Springs Pioneer Association. This ... be made up of those who have lived in this county and city twenty years and over. This takes in those who came with the founding of the city and for the first five years of its existence. Committees were appointed to have charge of the organization of these associations.

It was agreed that these associations in connection with the general committee on celebration shall plan for the anniversary meeting. The societies will be organized right away and set to work. There was a discussion on two other important matters that ... the shape. Steps are to be taken to ... some proper person who is to ... prepare a history of Colorado Springs and El Paso county. In the near future there is to be organized a county historical society. This ... come as the pioneer associations ... in shape for work.

The arrangements for the celebration will be in the hands of a general committee of 21. This will be made up of the members of the committees which have the two pioneer societies in charge and of seven who belong to neither and who yesterday jokingly termed themselves the "tenderfeet." President ... was elected chairman of the general committee. The committee now is as follows.

For the County pioneers Irving Howbert, A Z Sheldon, M B Irvin, B F Crowell, David McShane and D Spielman.

For the Colorado Springs Pioneer association Mrs Frank ... W S Stratton, R R Taylor, J M Bolton, T C Parrish, Irvin Potter, Major McA... ter.

For the late comers D V Donaldson, Walter C Frost, H G Lunt, George H Parsons, Wm I Slocum, George E Buckman and Mayor Plumb.

A sub-committee was appointed which will select speakers and arrange a programme.

D. A. R. Officers.

Zebulon Pike chapter Daughters of the American Revolution held their annual meeting on Saturday, May 23 at Coburn library. There was a good attendance. Reports of the different officers regent registrar, secretary and treasurer were most satisfactory in showing the progress made by the chapter during the first year of its existence. There are now 22 members and several application papers have been sent in which will be acted on very soon. A new constitution was adopted in which the date of the annual meeting was changed to February 22d.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Regent Mrs E C I Goddard, vice regent Mrs Emma H ...; ... registrar Mrs Julia H Platt; treasurer Mrs Lilla B Fudge; recording secretary Mrs Isabel S Bartlett; corresponding secretary Mrs Ida W Bibble, historian Mrs Clara F Fitzpatrick. These with Mrs Anna D Hayden and Mrs Catherine A Griswold constitute the board of management.

Dr. Gregg's Lecture.

In his lectures upon the ethics of the Old Testament, Dr. Gregg is discussing subjects of vital interest and importance ... day, subjects which, under educational, economic or socialistic heads form a large part of the matter in our leading periodicals and magazines. The Hebrew conception of the rights of the individual to life, liberty, property and reputation, his duty to his fellowmen, to God, and to nature, the whole question of slavery and other kindred subjects formed the matter of his second lecture, delivered last week. Yesterday afternoon in the third lecture, which was upon the family and the State, all that was said was directly applicable to the discussion of those points so generally raised by socialistic writers to-day. It is a pity that the audiences are not larger. The lectures are of exceptional value. The purity, elevation and dignity of the Hebrew conception of the family, the honorable position of women, the legislation concerning divorce, the reverence for the mother, the position of the slave in the family, his property rights, the laws of hospitality—the Hebrew theory of democracy and principles of government—these are but a few of the points most interestingly treated in yesterday's lecture. The landtenure theory, the divine right of the king and of the people to rule conjointly—the principles of social equality—methods of administering justice (closely followed by the Mormons of Utah), property laws, the rights of the debtor and the creditor, and, indirectly, a discussion of a number of socialistic points occupied the hour very fully.

The course closes to-day with a final lecture upon the Hebrew conception of the ethics of society. This will take up their views upon art and its place in the social economy, and will continue to be applicable to such questions as the relations of social classes to each other to-day. The hour is 3:30 p. m. in the College observatory. The public is invited.

Homeopaths Coming.

The State Homeopathic society will hold its annual meeting at Weber hall today and to-morrow. The association will convene at 1:30 this afternoon and an evening session will be held. On Thursday two sessions will be held, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. Dr. Allen and other homeopathic physicians of this city are officers of the organization. Quite a large number of physicians from all over the State are expected to be present and the programme will contain a large number of able papers.

Base Ball To-day.

The return game between the Colorado Springs League team and the Colored Giants will be called at Athletic Park at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Both teams have been strengthened since the last game and there promises to be some good ball. McCormick, a new out-fielder from Texas, and Ed. Oatman, of this city, make their first appearance with the league team. There are some new players with the Giants ... will be a ... league team ... it on a good basis. The ... up as follows:

Mines, Stocks, Investments

Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association.

Colorado Springs, May 26.—The market at the Exchange this morning was rather quiet. With very few exceptions the volume of trading in the stocks was very light. The two contrasting features of the market were Isabella and Union. The first named opened at yesterday's closing figures and scored an advance during the call while the latter also opened at about yesterday's quotations and went steadily downward. The initial sale in Isabella took place at 56½ with liberal offerings which, however, were well absorbed. It climbed by fractions until 57¾ was reached at the close, having total sales of 8,500 shares. Union opened ⅛ lower at 37⅛ and gradually went to 36½ at the close. The transactions in this issue amounted to 8700 shares. Argentum lost 1¼ during the morning with sales of 3000 shares. In the unlisted shares, Arcadia was the principal feature with sales of 11,000 shares at 4¼, an advance from yesterday of ½ cent, with the stock in good demand at the close. Anchoria-Leland remained stationary at $2.65 with transfers of 500 shares. The market closed steady.

WILL UNION PAY A DIVIDEND?

Some People Think Not—Interview with Col. Aldrich.

Will the Union company pay its May dividend?

This question is being quite generally asked in mining circles and its settlement, either one way or the other, is rather uncertain. The regular monthly meeting of the directors of that company was scheduled for the 25th, but no meeting was held on that day or on yesterday the 26th, on account of illness on the part of some of the directors and the absence from town of others. Just when the meeting will take place and what action will be taken by the directors is problematical.

The passing of Union dividends for a short time and using the profits in putting in place an adequate plant of machinery, which will suffice for years to come and the creating of other necessary improvements is being advised by some of the directors. Whether or not the views expressed by these directors will meet with the approval of the majority of the board remains to be seen.

Mr. Sherwood Aldrich, who represents a large amount of Union stock held by the Eastern clients and who has just returned from a personal investigation of the Union mines, was seen yesterday and asked to give his views as to the present condition of the property, its requirements and its future prospects. Mr. Aldrich in part said:

"I went through all the workings of the Orpha May mine of the Union company. The shaft is sunk to a depth of over 65 feet, and is still going down. There are seven levels in the mine, and each was inspected throughout its entire length. The showing of ore through these levels is continuous and there appear to be two principal ore chutes opened in the main Orpha May vein, one to the north and one to the south of the shaft. Several other small chutes have been found. Not one-quarter of the ore in the property has yet been stoped, and the conclusion is forced upon us that the Orpha May mine with proper business-like development, can make a showing which will be surpassed by few mines in the district. The ore streak ranges in width from a few inches to over four feet and in value from an average of $30 to $50 per ton in the regular streak, with thousands of dollars a ton in the rich pockets found in the vein. Nor are the values of this property confined to one vein, for two other veins have been opened by cross-cuts, both of which show high values and good streaks of ore. A blanket vein breaks into the third level and another more perpendicular vein into the fifth level, and test shipments from each have run very high. No stoping whatever has been done upon them, but they are held in reserve. The only material stoping seems to have been done in the second, third and fifth levels in the mine, the others being practically intact. It is clearly apparent, however, that the machinery plant upon the surface is wholly inadequate of performing the work of the property, and that the ore house and bins are also inadequate to the needs of the company. The Union company can undoubtedly continue its present output from the mines, and dividends to stockholders for some time without stripping the mine, but the sooner a proper machinery plant is erected, and properly arranged ore bins and ore house constructed, the more profitable will be the results to stockholders, for it will mean a great saving in mine expenses.

"At present the ore is trammed and re- so much more to the expense of handling it. With a new plant of sufficient capacity, with ore bins and ore houses built near the shaft, and with many other needed improvements, the Union company can without unusual efforts, produce at least $60,000 monthly and at the same time reduce its operating expenses considerably. The difficulties under which the present management is working the properties are too great and I consider it simply a matter of business foresight, which will reflect to the company's good in the end, to put in operation many needed reforms."

Mr. Aldrich stated that no man can form a true estimate as to the amount of unstoped ore in sight in the Orpha May, Pike's Peak and the Porcupine. He said that there were immense bodies of ore in sight in all the levels which should make the Union company one of the richest in the district.

TO TUNNEL THE BIG BALDY.

A New Enterprise Under Way at Bare Hills.

Bare Hills City, Colo., May 25.—A strong company has recently been formed to test the mineral-bearing capacity of Big Baldy, the eruptive center of the district. But little work has been done in this section, the wash being so deep that considerable capital is required with which to prospect. The south, east and west sides of this hill are very smooth and cone-shaped, extending up almost to a point, the summit embracing perhaps an acre of ground. Its altitude is 9615 feet, the highest in the district and its crest commands a most inspiring view of the entire area between Pike's Peak and the Sangre de Cristo range. The 10-foot assessment holes reveal a great variety of eruptive debris, the most prominent being of an andesitic nature, with streaks of white quartz. About 100 feet below the summit, on the northwest side a saddle connects with Little Baldy, a distance of one-fourth of a mile, the latter being a counterpart in appearance and formation of its somewhat more pretentious neighbor.

Across this saddle and close up to the top of Big Baldy, Arnold and Walker located a group of four claims: the Smuggler, Mollie Gibson, Humboldt and Hilltop, which they lately sold to the Galveston Mining and Development company.

The claims will be developed by a tunnel going in on Hilltop ground at its southeast corner and running under the saddle diagonally across all four properties. The tunnel which was commenced a few weeks ago, has a dip of one foot in ten and will cut under the saddle at a depth of about 30 feet. If water is encountered the siphon system will be used to dispose of it. The tunnel is in a distance of 80 feet, including an open cut of 20 feet, and has attained a depth of about 40 feet without reaching solid formation. From the nature of the wash, which is changing very fast, it is thought formation will be found within the next 20 feet. The dyke on which the Smuggler was located assays $12 at surface and the assessment holes on the other claims show values ranging from $2.20 to $4.60.

WEEKLY LETTER EXTRACTS.

The following is taken from the weekly letter of Messrs. J. McK. Ferriday & Co.:

"We have studiously avoided recommending in the past the purchase of any particular stock. We have always and consistently advised the buying of stocks that are listed on the old Exchange, believing then, as now, that these shares offer the best opportunity for a safe and profitable investment. The extremely severe examination to which all the listed mining stock companies are subjected to by the various committees of the old Exchange and its attorneys is in itself a bona fide evidence of true worth.

"We believe that the protracted slump the market has been experiencing has about reached a climax. Stocks have, if the events of the past two months can be considered in a precursory light, reached rock bottom and we advise our clients to take immediate advantage of the present opportunity and secure shares which to-day are selling far below the intrinsic value of the properties they represent.

"The development at Cripple Creek is progressing steadily, and with very favorable results. The day of pocket specimens and phenomenal assays has passed forever; new strikes, and there are many, receive hardly more than a passing mention. What the investor and speculators are now demanding is production, shipments and returns. The mines of the camp are now giving this information, and with it comes the almost regular announcement that a new dividend payer has been added to the roll of honor. The list of dividend payers is now quite large and is growing rapidly.

"From a carefully prepared table of statistics, of the past, present and prospective production of the various companies now declaring dividends we confidently believe that all of these companies will, before the end of the current year, increase their present rates of dividends from 1½ to 30 per cent. Within the next 90 days Anchoria-Leland will undoubtedly enter the rank of dividend payers distributing among its fortunate holders not less than 2 cents per share. Among the companies who are rapidly getting into condition as dividend payers are Dante, Mt Rosa, Raven, Anaconda, Ingham, Matoa, Gold Standard and Jefferson."

In their last weekly letter the Crosby-Ehrich Investment Syndicate say:

"There is a clever saying that 'He who knows little doubts little.' In some departments of human thought credulity is the daughter of ignorance and doubt is the child of awakening intelligence. But in other fields of human work and effort the very opposite is true—more especially as to matters connected with mining. In this field it can be said that 'He who knows nothing doubts enormously.' This fact has been forcibly brought home to us by a recent visit of two foreigners, who crossed the ocean and the greater part of our continent for the express purpose of making a personal inspection of the gold mines of Cripple Creek. Before leaving New York for the West they naturally called on their many Wall street banking correspondents and they tell us they were met with one unbroken chorus of condemnation of Colorado and Cripple Creek gold mines. The impression made upon these foreign gentlemen was that they were going to venture themselves and their investments among a band of unscrupulous sharpers and brigands, and they assure us that if they had not crossed the deep with such a firm decision to investigate Western gold fields they would have taken the first steamer home and given devout thanks that they had escaped a visit to such a dangerous neighborhood.

"Now the truth is that this skepticism and complete lack of faith on the part of Wall street is born from sheer ignorance. This is neither strange nor novel. It took us who live only eighteen miles from Cripple Creek as the crow flies, nearly three years before we could convince ourselves that a great gold-producing district lay almost at our very doors. It took the investors of Denver who live less than three hours by rail from us, an additional year and a half before they could realize the same fact, and now Chicago and New York are going through the same condition of protracted skepticism and unbelief, until some fine morning they will awake to the truth and will then usher in a rage of speculation which will be as unreasonable on the one side as their present apathy and distrust is on the other.

"The following facts should set business men to thinking: The gross gold output of Cripple Creek in round figures was, for 1892, $500,000; for 1893, $2,000,000; for 1894, $3,000,000; and for 1895, $8,000,000. By a careful study of the annual statements of our mining companies we are led to believe that the total expense of extracting, transporting and smelting the ore is 50 per cent. of the gross product. However, in order to make our figures safe, we will call it 60 per cent.; so that we can safely affirm, that of the producing mines of Cripple Creek, the net profit for the year 1895 was, in round figures, $3,000,000. We find that including shipping mines and prospects, listed and unlisted, the stock of 54 different companies are traded in upon our Exchanges in Colorado Springs. They represent in all 60,000,000 shares of stock. Multiplying this total stock capitalization with the present market value of the shares gives us a sum total in round figures of $12,000,000. Now, if to this total we add the sum of $5,000,000 as representing the value of the Independence mine, and also $1,000,000 for the Moose mine, neither of which is incorporated, we shall reach a total of $18,000,000, which practically represents the present market-selling value of every mine in the Cripple Creek district. As we have before pointed out, the net profits of the last year were over $3,000,000 so that if to-day a syndicate were to buy up every one of these properties at the present selling value, paying $18,000,000 therefor it would be realizing immediately by way of net earnings, a return of nearly 20 per cent upon its investment, with the promise of enormous additional returns from fully five-sixths of its Cripple Creek holdings which are still in the process of development. No stronger or more forcible presentation of the fact can be made than the above, which so clearly demonstrates that the average market value of our gold mining shares is far below their intrinsic value as based upon present production and future prospects.

We perfectly understand the paralysis of capital which has benumbed our entire industrial system and yet even under present conditions it is difficult to grasp the fact that investors will neglect to buy stocks which will pay from 16 to 20 per cent on the investment by way of dividends, and where the physical conditions make a material advance in the market values inevitable. No more attractive investment can be found than Isabella, Elkton Consolidated, Golden Fleece and Portland; and if one is indifferent to immediate dividends and prefers a more speculative turn, we heartily recommend Anaconda, C. C. Consolidated, C. C. Gold Exploration, Mt. Rosa, Matoa, Ida May, Ajax, Red and Trachyte."

The following is taken from the weekly letter of the Woods Investment Co.:

"A reaction from the higher prices of the past fortnight characterized the business of the week. Large sales of Isabella, presumably for realization purposes, forced that security down to 55½c. Work also dropped two points, while Pharmacist, seeking a lower level reached 6½c. with prospect of going still lower. Rumors relative to the legal standing of Arcadia, concerning the final ownership of territory under bond and lease, forced the stock much below former figures.

"As predicted in this letter some time since Squaw Mountain struck bottom this week, selling at 8c at Cripple and at Colorado Springs Exchanges. If this company will dispel the clouds which from a legal standpoint surround its equities, the stock would prove a good purchase at prevailing prices. Columbine Gold under urgent sales on Board of Trade, brought 1½c, being the lowest figure reached for nearly a year. Dante holds up well, as does Bankers.

"There is a demand at this time for properties or groups of mines at Cripple, on the Continent. We are daily in receipt of letters of inquiry looking to the purchase of property for exploitation in England. The English investor prefers shares of a company registered under the laws of Great Britain and under their own management. We look for an increase in foreign business during the present season which will lead eventually to the absorption of many of the leading Cripple Creek properties by our English cousins. It is futile to expect a market equal to that of July, 1895, in the next 60 days, the average investor has no yearnings towards placing of surplus cash during 'Presidential year.'"

ASPEN PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS.

Messrs. Mogat and Brown Buy the Aspen Deep Shaft.

Aspen, Colo., May 26.—D. H. Moffat of Denver and D. R. C. Brown of this city have become owners of the property of the Aspen Deep Mining and Drainage company, which is better known as the Deep Shaft proposition and through which a number of mines on Aspen mountain can be worked to any great depth. Title passed Monday was under a sale by trust deed. For two years sale of the property under the deed has been resisted by stockholders of the company, but the courts held the trust deed good and the property was put up at auction. The deed was for $70,000 and the interest accrued amounted to $12,000. The sale attracted very little attention and when an agent of D. R. C. Brown and David Moffat offered $75,000 there was no raise and the mine was sold. It is stated on reliable authority that Brown and Moffat will clear the deep shaft of water and start it up again this summer. This will mean employment to about 100 men.

Bright Prospects.

The Goleta company, which is working under a bond and lease the Sylvanite and Dolphin lodes of the Golden Age company, is very well pleased with the present outlook. The shaft on the Sylvanite has reached a good depth and a fine vein is exposed which assays as high as $77 per ton. They hope to have shipping ore within a few weeks. The bond calls for $35,000, and will probably be taken up.

Ready to Start.

The new plant of machinery on the Anchoria-Leland properties on Gold hill is about completed and will be started up for the first time this week. Good progress is being made on the big main working shaft. The Hight and Shape, Maloney and Chance workings have now been connected at the 275-foot level, and drifting was begun yesterday along the vein to connect with the Young and Airheart workings at the same depth. The big working shaft is about 25 feet away from the Chance vein, and by the end of this week two cross-cuts will have been run from the shaft and connected with that vein, one at a depth of 275 and the other at 220 feet. The cross-cut which was started this week for the Chance vein had barely cleared the shaft when a new 14-inch vein was broken into. The values at the point cut are only nominal, the supposition being that the cross-cut has only tapped the apex as the vein was not found in the cross-cut at the 275-foot point.

May Get an Extension.

The Adams company, which has a bond and lease on the Adams claim, located south of the Strong mine at Victor, and belonging to the Mt. Rosa company, have made some very flattering offers for a six months' extension of their present lease. They have offered to add an additional $15,000 to the present bond which calls for $35,000 and also to perform several hundred feet of shafting and drifting on the property.

The Adams is being worked under bond and lease by three different sets of sub-lessees, who, it is said, are really the parties who want more time on their holdings. The general opinion among the directors of the Mt. Rosa company is that the Adams people can secure an extension if they will put up $500 in cash as a guarantee of good faith; which sum is to be deducted from the purchase money when the bond is taken up.

An Inquiry.

Colorado Springs, May 26, 1896.
To the Editor of The Gazette:

One of the long-suffering public would like to ask the officers of the Arcadia M. Co. for a statement. It is currently reported on the street that they have lost everything they had but two acres of the "Lone Star," and that on a bond and lease, and there is a debt of $7000 against the company. It is also reported that the officers are booming the stock. Will the officers give a statement?

ONE OF THE S. P.

Current Notes.

The Earl Gold Reef Mining and Tunnel company, a Lake City corporation, has been registered with the International Trust company.

A good body of ore was encountered in a drift in the 100-foot level of the M. K. and T. mine, which is located on Straub mountain. The assayer's certificate gave a value of $136.50.

The Cripple Creek and Indiana company has let a contract for 100 feet of sinking on its Geneva group, in the High Park district. George W. Bolls and associates of Geneva, Ind., are interested in the properties with Peterson and Hansborough of Cripple Creek. They are undertaking considerable development in that section and showing their faith in its future.

How to Treat a Wife
(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not, therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health.

If you desire to go anywhere start out right by choosing the Great Rock Island Route.

Colorado Springs Board of Trade and Mining Exchange.

Colorado Springs, May 26.—The proceedings at the Board were quite lively and more business was done than for some time past. The [illegible] with the present situation and refused as a general rule to do any underbidding. Isabella was quite strong, as was also Pharmacist. [illegible] was weaker than yesterday and had sales of 100 shares. In the prospective mine department Colorado City and Manitou was in good demand with the price holding up very well. Humboldt and [illegible] were also dealt in. In the prospects Boston and Colorado and Crescent were the leading features. In the miscellaneous Arcadia came in for sales of 2100 shares from 4 to 4¾ with 5 bid at the close. The market closed firm.

EASTERN MARKETS.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

New York, May 26.—Money on call has been easy at 1½ per cent., last loan at 1½ and closing offered at 1½. Prime mercantile paper 5@6½ per cent. Bar silver [illegible]. Sterling exchange quiet and easier with actual business in bankers' bills at [illegible] for 60 days and [illegible] for demand. Posted rates [illegible]. Commercial bills [illegible]. Government [illegible] steady; State bonds dull; railroad bonds lower. Silver at the board firm.

It was another dull and uninteresting day at the stock exchange. Transactions were only 103,135 shares. At the outset the market was inclined to weakness, and prices receded about [illegible] per cent., lower prices from London having led to moderate sales for the short account by local traders, who for the moment were arrayed on the bear side. The arguments advanced by those working for a decline were the continued decline in the prices of wheat, lard, pork and other products; the likelihood of further engagements of gold for export to Europe on Thursday and Saturday, and the efforts making in the Senate to change the matter of bond issues now in control of the Treasury Department. The low prices

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 26.—Wheat, anything new on the situation and without any extraordinary effort to [illegible] the market for wheat experienced another break this morning. It was simply a heavy market with the holders who have been hoping against hope that something might happen which would bring a reversal of the sentiment, throwing their wheat on the market and taking their losses which is going to [illegible]. Yesterday and today [illegible] stop loss orders have come out and more are expected at each further [illegible]. There were [illegible] Liverpool or [illegible] cables, it being a holiday at those places. The world's shipments last week were [illegible] bushels. The amount on ocean passage increased 1,520,000 bushels. Receipts in the Northwest were heavy at 341 cars against 114 last Tuesday and 322 a year ago. Chicago had 29 cars, and inspected out [illegible] bushels. Wheat closed [illegible] higher and Antwerp unchanged. Export clearances were [illegible] at [illegible] bushels. Later in the session a moderate recovery on covering by shorts took place. Estimated receipts for tomorrow 1 car.

Corn—Receipts of corn were heavy this morning, 758 cars arriving. The sudden increase in the movement is ascribed to the continued good promise of the next crop and to the fact that farmers having a little time on their hands, availed themselves of the opportunity to rid of the quantity cribbed. There was no Liverpool cables. Withdrawals from store were light at 61,000 bushels. The amount on ocean passage decreased 610,000 bushels. The market was governed largely by the action of wheat today, prices averaging weak and lower. Export clearances were 247,000 bushels. Russia shipped 1,200,000 bushels last week. Estimated receipts for tomorrow 535 cars.

The Elkton Consolidated Mining and Milling company has this day declared a dividend of 1 cent per share, payable May 25, 1896, to the stockholders of record May 23, 1896, at noon, at which time the books for transfer of stock will close and reopen again on May 27, 1896, at noon.

J. H. Avery, Secretary.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses, and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is the question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with.

Members of Myrtle lodge, Knights of Pythias, are requested to be present this evening at 8 o'clock sharp for work in the esquire rank.

The Pike's Peak Roadsters will have a meeting this evening that is of great importance to the club, and all members should be present.

Chancellor D. R. Dungan of Cotner University, at Lincoln, Neb., is in the city, and is to preach at the Christian church this evening.

A suit filed yesterday is entitled George Simonton vs. John Peterson et al., a suit to set aside a title to the Pittsburg claim, secured through a judgment.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Chas. Gagmer of Victor and Miss Bertha Briggs of Elkton, to E. B. Mick and Miss Agnes M. Hall of Cripple Creek.

There will be a special session of Ramona chapter No. 9, O. E. S., to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock for work. Every member is requested to be present. Visiting members are cordially invited.

The benefit concert for Mr. Hugh McCabe, announced for next Friday evening, has been postponed to Thursday evening, June 4th. Those holding tickets will please remember the change of date.

The High School boys go to Denver on June 12th to participate in the State field day, and they are arranging to run an excursion for the occasion. They will have $2 for the round trip, and no doubt will secure a big crowd.

The Roadsters' "freak" run will occur Saturday morning at 10:30. The club members are getting up some queer rigs, and promise to have a very amusing time. The parade will move up Cascade avenue, on Tejon street and Pike's Peak avenue.

The fourth academy class of Cutler Academy will give a lawn fete on Friday evening next on the grounds of Dr. Kimball's home, corner of Nevada avenue and Cache la Poudre street. It is for the benefit of the Pearsons fund, and the public is invited.

The fourth and last lecture by Dr. Gregg at the College will be given this afternoon in the Observatory at 3:30. Subject: "The Hebrew View of the Ethical Principles Governing Society, its Management and its Laws." All persons interested are welcome at these lectures.

The deferred annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce is to be held to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in the room of the first division of the district court. Directors for the ensuing year will be elected and action will be taken on sundry amendments to the by-laws.

Some rascal has been scribbling on the plate glass fronts of the business houses with a diamond. A sample of his work can be seen on the window of Hext & Williams's music store. It is a species of vandalism that should mean the penitentiary to the perpetrator if caught.

After the sale this morning at the Mining Exchange, the boxes for the grand stand at the races on Saturday will be sold at auction. It will be an interesting occasion just to watch the sale. No doubt the boxes will bring a good price. They are the choice seats in the grand stand.

Tom Vaux leaves for Denver this morning to conclude training for the big road race on Saturday. He and Wahl are the only men from Colorado Springs entered, and either of them is likely to make a fine race and take first place. Vaux will be here for the races on Monday and Wednesday, having entered most of the amateur class races.

A big petition was started yesterday by the wheelmen asking the city council to pass an ordinance which will require people to ride and drive on the right side of the streets. It is an ordinance that is effective in other cities and should be adopted here. The wheelmen and most of the wheelwomen do keep to the right pretty much now, but the delivery wagons and other vehicles pay no attention to it.

The father of H. G. L. McClintock, the young man who got into trouble by running bills that he could not afford, has been in the city for a day or two, and an effort has been made to straighten out his affairs. The bill of Moffatt, the tailor, has been fixed up, and the case will be dismissed to-day. It seems that it was not a case of gilded youth who was blowing in father's money faster than he could make it, but of a young fellow who was trying to live beyond his means.

Yesterday a committee of the Clerks' union visited all of the merchants of the city and made arrangements by which all of the stores of the city will probably close on Saturday afternoon. It is the general custom to close here on Decoration day, but coming on Saturday this year, some of the merchants were rather inclined to disregard it. All of the dry goods houses, groceries, clothing, jewelers and butchers have signed the agreement. Citizens should do their trading before noon on Saturday.

Early Vegetables in Abundance.

Most people have been eating canned vegetables for the past six months. Is it not about time to begin to eat fresh garden truck? You will see at the Palace the latest and freshest produce that money can buy. The vegetables we sell are shipped by express direct from the gardens of Southern Kansas, and reach our store in less than fifteen hours after being taken from the earth. It costs no more to have fresh food upon your table than canned goods—besides it is much healthier at this season of the year when one's system needs toning up.

Light Sundries For Warm Days.

Very few people eat a hearty lunch on these warm days, preferring a dainty and appetizing repast. Our bakery department will supply the wants of the most fastidious. Ice creams and ices can be delivered to your home at very short notice, by 'phoning your order to the

DEADLY WORK OF STRONG WINDS

Polk and Jasper Counties in Iowa Were Ravaged.

ANOTHER CYCLONE IN MICHIGAN

Twenty Persons Were Killed by the Iowa Storm—The Usual Phenomena of the True Tornado—Horrors of Instantaneous Ruin.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 25.—A terrific cyclone swept across Polk county and into the eastern edge of Jasper county between 10:30 and 11 o'clock Sunday night, leaving death and destruction in its trail. There are about twenty now known to be dead and at least as many others seriously injured, a number of whom will certainly die.

A Remarkable Storm.

The storm was in many ways a remarkable one. It appears to have started in two sections. One of them came from the north and was a tremendous wind. Its first trace is found about a mile south of Ankeny and 12 miles north of Des Moines. It seemed to be moving about due east when it began in serious force. The first place at which it did serious injury was at the home of J. L. Woods, a mile south of Ankeny.

The other branch of the storm contributed the rain. It started four miles north of the first and moved from northwest to southeast, following the Des Moines river.

The two divisions met two miles east of Ankeny and here they developed first the cyclone form with funnel and tremendous force and roaring and electrical disturbances. From this point west for nearly twenty miles the path of the storm is a path of destruction. At Polk City and Ankeny considerable damage was done; at Bondurant much damage was done; but the serious loss of life occurred beyond Bondurant to the northeast.

With Terrific Speed.

The storm after the cyclonic conditions were developed swept across the country at terrific speed. It gave warning of its approach to all in its path until it got near to Valeria, Jasper county, where the most harm was done. Here it came with such awful force that people who saw it say that the great black funnel hanging down from a blacker heaven tore across the prairie at a greater speed than the fastest train. It is believed it moved at this time about a mile a minute; the great funnel of wind and rain and lightning seething and roaring and scattering debris in its path.

Nothing was left in its path. For several miles it passed through a dense forest. Oak and elm trees two feet in diameter were torn up by their roots or twisted off. Where a human habitation lay in its path the destruction was instantaneous.

A Clean Sweep.

As it approached the eastern part of its course, it strengthened and wiped the country clean in its path; at Valeria, a little town of 60 people it wiped out almost half the town. The people were nearly all in the caves and cellars of the town, but many of them did not even have a warning until it was too late. The loss of life was remarkably small, considering the number of buildings that were wrecked, and the wonderful escapes are almost without number.

The path covered by the cyclone proper is in most places from 40 to 50 rods wide. It perpetrated all the remarkable feats that cyclones are famous for. The first large building wrecked was the Monarch school house, west of Bondurant. Here it took up a large school house, shook it to pieces, scattered it so that very few of the boards are to be found, and even distributed the stone foundation over the fields, while a big wooden stile over the fence three rods from the building it left unharmed. The huge cylindrical cast iron stove was tossed into an oat field, a quarter of a mile from the site of the building.

With Two Funnels.

The storm came in some places in the form of two and in others in the form of a single funnel. At Bondurant there were two sweeping along the earth, side by side; between them was a calm space, and in this little damage was done. After the two consolidated their force seemed to be greater. The storm struck from 10:30 to 10:40 p. m., all along its course. It had been a fearfully hot and sultry day. The air had been oppressive and still, and many people had remarked that there was danger of a cyclone. Most of the people were in bed. There was a rain and thunder storm just in advance of the cyclone, and while the wind was whistling through the trees and the rain beating down in sheets, suddenly the awful roar that every prairie farmer knows as the dread forerunner of the cyclone, would be heard. An instant and the storm would have struck, and then all was chaos. Those who heard it early saved themselves in some cases by getting into their cellars and caves. In other places whole families were killed or terribly injured, and their property destroyed.

Typical Destruction.

A typical bit of destruction was at the Daley home, northwest of Bondurant. There were in the house nine people; four of them were killed and the rest injured so badly that it is doubtful if any of them will recover. The house was on a hill high above the surrounding country, and the funnel dipped into it. House, barns, outbuildings and grove were destroyed alike. Two minutes after the storm struck ther was no trace of the house save the cellar, and in it were piled the chimney and stove and half the furniture. The house was torn to pieces; the boards into splinters. They were scattered so far that no trace can be found save here and there for a mile east pieces of broken lumber. Trees were stripped of their bark and left standing. This was a freak of the storm. At each place it would strip them off or uproot them. At the Bailey place the members of the family were blown a considerable distance from the house, the bodies of the victims were found in the fields, where were also distributed the bodies of a dozen horses, two score of cattle and about 100 hogs that had occupied the barns and other buildings on the place, every animal dead.

This was the experience of the fated home of Peter Bolembaugh, a mile farther west. What happened there will never be known exactly. Nobody lives to tell of it. Mr. and Mrs. Bolembaugh, both about 47 years of age, occupied the home with a little boy. The house was razed so completely that no sign of it can now be seen. The three inmates were killed. Mr. Bolembaugh had both arms broken, his head crushed in, one leg and several ribs injured, and his neck and jaw broken. The boy and woman were as badly hurt. They were not found until 2 o'clock this morning.

Houses unroofed and barns destroyed, groves ruined and stock killed by hundreds were mere incidents along the path of the funnel.

The Wreck at Valeria.

At Valeria, where the worst damage was done, the storm struck first the house of Chas. Phelan, a wealthy farmer on the edge of town. There were five in the house who were killed; two or three others will probably die. One of the daughters heard the roaring and got up to rouse the rest of the family. Before she could call to them the storm was around the house. She was pulled out of her room through an open window and carried back in the face of the storm about a hundred feet, where she was left on the ground unhurt. She started to the house, to see it crumble to splinters before her eyes. With it went the barns and sheds around, and in another instant there was the most awful scene of destruction that the storm left in its wake. Five in the family were killed; their bodies were found in the plowed fields where they were in fearfully mutilated conditions and plastered with mud. Around them were the bodies of horses and hogs and cattle.

At Valeria the depot of the Chicago Great Western road was wrecked. The wires were torn down from that place to Bondurant, and just west of Valeria the storm did the most remarkable piece of work. Just out of the town the railroad goes over a high grade. The track for 200 feet was taken off this grade and scattered, rails, ties and all, over the fields. Half a dozen rails were bent into letter S forms.

At Valeria the Methodist and Catholic churches were totally wrecked. About a dozen business houses were blown to pieces or partially wrecked. A large part of the population of the town went into the cyclone cave in the middle of the place, and got in its shelter a few seconds before the storm struck.

The storm spent itself about three miles northeast of this place, but not until it had killed one child at the home of Douglas Akin, and fatally hurt another; wrecked the home of Solomon Dickey and probably fatally hurt Mr. Dickey and his sisters, Martha Dickey and Mrs. Frank S. Hell. The home of William Osborne, in the same neighborhood, was destroyed and four members of the family were fearfully hurt. It is expected that at least two of them will die.

The Death Roll.

As nearly a complete list of the dead as could be had is as follows.

James Maxwell, struck by lightning north of Bondurant, Mrs. Robert Bailey, aged 60, Lizzie Bailey, aged [illegible], [illegible] Bailey, aged 22; John Bailey, aged [illegible], Mary Bailey, aged 18; Peter Bolenbaugh, aged 50, Mrs. Peter Bolenbaugh, aged 47. Theophilus Milburn, aged 8, Charles Phelan aged 45; Susie Phelan, aged 18, Michael Phelan aged 8; Charles Phelan Jr., aged 5; Nellie Phelan, aged 5 months; Dennis Phelan, aged 12, Martha Akin, infant child of Douglas Akin; John Yates, back broken, will die.

The list of the seriously injured is not complete but it includes, as those expected to die, the following: Torney Bailey, aged 16, Johnnie Bailey, aged 12; Solomon and Mrs. Solomon Dickey; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dickey; Robert Bailey, Mrs. Charles Phelan and two daughters; two children of Douglas Akin, Mrs. Martha Dickey, Mrs. Shell, sister of Mr. Dickey, William Osborne and wife and two children.

Aside from these there were many minor injuries.

FIFTEEN DROWNED.

A Cloudburst in Eastern Iowa Causes Many Deaths and Much Loss to Property.

McGregor, Ia., May 25.—Words are inadequate to fitly describe the scene of desolation caused by last night's terrible cloudburst in historic Bloody Run. For ten miles west of this place everything is in ruins. All the afternoon threatening clouds were gathering and about 1 o'clock this morning the storm burst in its fury, soon deluging the valley. It swept all before it. Fifteen people were drowned as far as known.

The names of the missing are: Mrs. John Maloney, four children of Lawrance Meyer, Mike Haveck, John Livac, John Kattlee. Six bodies have been recovered and identified as follows: Michael Maloney, Mrs. Burke and son, Mrs. Meyer and 5-year-old son, John Maloney.

Some of the unfortunate victims are supposed to have been carried out into the Mississippi river, into which Bloody Run empties at North McGregor. About ten miles of track of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway has been washed away. A large number of freight cars were standing on the tracks in the west yards. They are piled in shapeless masses along the valley. The loss to the railroad company will probably reach $100,000.

The station at Beulah, about nine miles west was washed away and the agent and family barely escaped with their lives. Wingen & Sons' lumber mill was badly damaged and had over 100,000 feet of lumber swept away. The valley for 12 miles is one vast wreck and the damage to mills, houses and farms cannot be estimated.

LOST FIVE CHILDREN.

A Mother's Awful Experience in the Storm at Durango.

Durango, Iowa, May 25.—Mrs. J. M. Clark, station agent of the Chicago Great Western railway, lost five of her six children in the flood and cyclone of last night, and Tom Griffin, a brakeman, went to his death while making an attempt to save the sixth.

Mrs. Clark was called up during the night to report the condition of the track by the crew of a delayed train. Accompanied by her six young children, she had just reached the depot when a terrific rush of water came, carrying the depot away. Five of the children were drowned.

Thomas Griffin, a brakeman employed on the road, made a brave but ineffectual attempt to save the remaining little one, and lost his life in the attempt. Mrs. Clark by heroic efforts saved one child, though they were carried some distance in the water. The body of one child has been recovered.

Storm at Burlington.

Burlington, Ia., May 25.—This city was struck by a furious storm last night, rain and hail being the predominating elements. The wind destroyed a church, part of the Atlas mill and many smokestacks. South of the town the cyclone developed, tearing up trees, and destroying crops.

Railways Damaged.

Oelwein, Iowa, May 25.—A terrible wind and rain storm last night through Delaware and Dubuque counties caused great damage to railways and highways. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Illinois Central and Chicago Great Western railways are badly washed out, bridges and culverts destroyed and the track torn up for miles. The storm was most severe between Oneida and Dubuque. A firm of contractors at Graf lost a complete outfit of tents, wagons, tools, and 35 or 40 horses. The railways are unable to move any trains through this section.

TORNADO IN MICHIGAN.

More Than a Score of Persons Killed by the Storm in Oakland County, Michigan.

Ortonville, Mich., May 25.—A cyclone swept over the northern portion of Oakland county this afternoon. The storm passed about half a mile north of this village. It came from the west and went on a due line east. The path of the cyclone was half a mile wide. Every farmhouse in its path for a distance of fully 15 miles was destroyed, and between 20 and 25 persons were killed and nearly 30 injured, some of whom will die.

The names of some of the killed are as follows: Daniel Thompson and son, Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell and two children, Abram Quick and three children, Mrs. Henry Quick, John Porritt, Mrs. Joseph Porritt, John Milkey, Mrs. T. J. Heaton, two children of Mr. Howe.

Among those injured are: Oscar Granger, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Porritt, Archie Woodruff.

Oakland, the next village north of here, is reported to have been completely wiped out and many persons killed and injured.

At Thomas, which is located a few miles east of here, many buildings were destroyed, and it is said five persons lost their lives.

Metamora, a town a few miles north of Thomas, of the line of the Michigan Central, also suffered severely and several persons were killed.

Around Mt. Clemens.

Mount Clemens, Mich., May 25.—A cyclone struck here this evening. About 25 houses were demolished, but as far as can be learned nobody was killed. Mrs. Pell and three sons were seriously and perhaps fatally injured. The cyclone has done an immense amount of damage to the surrounding country, many farm houses having been demolished, and it is feared that later reports will show that many lives have been lost in this section of Macomb county.

Damage at Lake View.

Lake View, Mich., May 25.—A small cyclone struck this place this afternoon, destroying crops, trees and buildings of all kinds. A large barn on Robert Edgar's place was demolished, and one owned by Fred Dikar was moved from its foundation and crushed. No one was killed, as far as learned.

ANOTHER CYCLONE.

Much Destruction to Lives and Property in the Vicinity of Rockford, Illinois.

Rockford, Ill., May 25.—Several people were killed and many thousand dollars' worth of property destroyed by a storm of wind, hail and rain, which swept upon this region last night. Other persons were injured, some fatally. The storm was most severe southeast of the city.

At midnight a cyclone struck one mile south of Egan City, wrecking the residence of Mrs. Isora Bird and killing her instantly. Her two girls and two boys were badly hurt. The oldest girl's arm was fractured, and she was internally injured. It is not believed the youngest will live. Big trees were torn from the earth, crops ruined and outhouses destroyed by the score.

Dr. Hildebrand, his wife and daughter, were killed near Monroe Center and Miss Rhinehart lost her life at Leaf River. Monroe Center was also in the way of the storm and several lives are reported lost, but information is meager on account of the crippled condition of the wires. It is said one woman was beheaded by the cyclone.

Davis Junction was also a victim of the storm to a serious extent. In this city, the storm raged for more than an hour, filling the air with balls of electric fire and flashes of lightning following with frightful rapidity. The city, however, escaped the destructive force of the storm, the chief damage being to houses struck by lightning, first floors and basements flooded and telephone wires prostrated.

In the northern part of the county there was vicious downpour of hail, which ruined crops and made the roads impassable. Thousands of store and residence windows at Caledonia were broken, and the railroads into the city are prostrated by washouts, while all wires are down. The tracks are strewn for miles with the wreckage harvest of the storm. All the windows in a Northwestern train were shattered just as it pulled in here, and the passengers had to be transferred.

Storm at Mt. Carroll.

Mount Carroll, Ill., May 25.—The hardest storm ever experienced in this section broke last night and continued for hours. Carroll creek rose 20 feet in half an hour. The J. M. Shirk company's mill dam broke, flooding the electric light plant, Lebekicker's carriage manufactory, Mount Carroll tannery and all the buildings along Galena avenue and Mill street. The fire alarm was rang at 1 o'clock and people were rescued on improvised rafts. Two hundred feet of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul company's track between here and Savannah was washed out. Hundreds of cattle and horses were drowned. The damage in Carroll county alone is estimated at $100,000.

Rain at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—Two inches of rain fell here early this morning and the streets were flooded. The wind also blew a hurricane, destroying shade trees and hail did considerable damage to fruit. The sewers were not equal to carrying off the flood, and many cellars were deluged.

A Remnant of the Cyclone.

Duluth, Minn., May 25.—What was probably the tail end of the Iowa cyclone passed over Duluth this afternoon. Several chimneys were blown down and some houses unroofed. A sail-boat containing a pleasure party of four persons capsized on Lake Superior, and after hard work by the life-saving crew they were rescued.

Italy's Foreign Policy.

Rome, May 25.—In reply to an interpellation in regard to the Dreibund, in the Chamber of Deputies to-day, the Marquis Di Rudini, prime minister, said that the Dreibund was a necessity to Italy, and declared that if such an alliance did not exist it would be necessary to create one. It imposed no military obligations, he said, and it had the unique aim of preserving the peace of Europe. Besides, he continued, it was popular. Italy, the premier added, ought not to hinder the good relations between France and Russia. The friendship of England, he concluded, conformed to the sentiments and interest of Italy and completed the Italian system of alliances.

Cook County for Free Silver.

Chicago, May 25.—The Democratic primary election of delegates to the county convention, which meets here to-morrow, to choose delegates to the State convention, and do other political business, was held in the wards and outlying towns today. Secretary Burke of the County Central committee said to-night that 40,000 Democratic votes were cast. As has been conceded since the majority of the county convention declared for free silver, the delegates will vote unanimously tomorrow in favor of free silver and for delegates of like sentiment to represent Cook county in the State convention. All the delegates are also for Gov. Altgeld's renomination.

Seattle Bank Failure.

Seattle, Wn., May 25.—The Guarantee Loan and Trust Co's bank closed today, posting this notice upon the door:

"This bank has been closed by order of its board of trustees, and an assignment has been made for the benefit of all its creditors."

The concern has been generally known to be in a precarious condition for eighteen months, and its liabilities to depositors are consequently small. However, a contingent liability in the shape of guarantee mortgages and loans is reported to be large.

Northern Pacific Sale.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 25.—It has been decided to have the judicial sale of the Northern Pacific railroad take place at West Superior, Wis., July 25. Master Cary, who will conduct the sale, will proceed from that city to other points in the several states to sell the railroad land along the line.

RELIGIOUS ASSEMBLIES.

Yesterday's Proceedings of the Denominational Conventions.

WIDE RANGE OF DISCUSSION.

American University Trustees Elected—Epworth League, Christian Endeavor, Church Union, Missions and Education Discussed.

Cleveland, O., May 25.—The general conference of the M. E. church to-day elected Dr. Joseph C. Hartzell of [illegible], Bishop of Africa.

But four days of the session remain, and all speeches were this morning limited to five minutes. Trustees of the American University at Washington were named during the morning. They are all Eastern men.

The long deferred fight between lay and ministerial delegates came [illegible] the committee on constitution [illegible] the new constitution. The majority report wanted a referendum, [illegible] posed only of the ministers, [illegible] the minority report demanded [illegible] members be given a voice in the referendum.

Dr. A. J. Kynett of Philadelphia made a strong argument in favor of lay representation.

Elvin Swathout of Michigan declared that the report of the constitutional commission was a failure. "What a miserable farce was the consideration of the woman question by this body. We first considered the question as a judicial one, and then compromised it by vote of our legislative powers. That kind of action makes our conference ridiculous. I am opposed to the report because it gives us nothing new."

A motion was made to amend the report of the committee so that the delegates to the general conference should be elected by the people of the church, instead of the quarterly conference, but it was lost.

The committee on Epworth League recommended that certain members of the Board of Control be appointed by the general conference, instead of representatives of the league. Adopted.

Bishop Hurst presided over the afternoon session of the conference and again showed himself utterly devoted to parliamentary law and curbing the restless spirits of the convention. The scenes of disorder were only equalled by those which occurred when he presided over the conference in its discussion of the woman's question.

Nominations of an additional secretary of the Freedmen's Aid society were in order, and out of a field of four M. C. Mason of Savannah, Ga (colored) was chosen on the first ballot. Adjourned.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Church Union Indefinitely Postponed by Presbyterians.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 25.—The Presbyterian general assembly resumed its business sessions to-day with the usual half hour's devotional exercises.

The Board of Freedmen's report was considered and recommendations in regard to its work adopted.

The report of the special committee on young people's societies was again taken up. This matter was raised at Pittsburg by a request for the formal indorsement of the Christian Endeavor union and for the establishment in the Fifth avenue Presbyterian house of a young people's society and headquarters with a board of secretaries. A special committee was appointed at Pittsburg and a plan for the supervision and government of such societies as already exist in the church was prepared and reported to the assembly.

The consideration of a proposal to prepare a plan for union of all Presbyterian young people's societies was then taken up.

Rev. Dr. Lane of Westchester county, opposed the clause and argued for the discharge of the committee on the ground that the proposal of a denominational young people's society to take the place of the Christian Endeavor was unwise.

Recess was taken with the matter still under consideration.

At the afternoon session Dr. William H. Hubbard, editor of the Assembly Herald, read a series of propositions in regard to the Presbyterian mission house, and offered a resolution looking to the disposition of the property on Fifth avenue, New York, as it was not a paying investment. It was decided to report the matter to-morrow morning.

The report of the Committee on Education was then read and received.

Rev. Dr. Joseph Smith of Baltimore then read the report of the special Committee on Church Unity. The speech of the Committee on Church Unity, which has been before the assembly several years, was laid on the table indefinitely, and the assembly adjourned for the day.

HOME MISSIONS.

It Was the Principal Topic of the Baptist Gathering.

Asbury Park, N. J., May 25.—The sixty-fourth annual report of the executive board of the American Baptist Home Mission Society for the year ending March 31, 1896, was delivered at this morning's session of the society. They began with a debt of $98,000, and close with a debt of $85,000; the total receipts for the year, including conditional and permanent trust funds (not including church edifice loans repaid), have been $509,919.

The whole number of laborers, missionaries and teachers, supported wholly or in part by the society, has been 1147.

The plan of co-operation between the Home Mission Society of the North, the Southern Baptist Convention of the South, and the Colored Baptists, in behalf of missionary and educational work among the negroes, inaugurated two years ago, is making steady progress.

The afternoon session at the Auditorium was the eighth anniversary of the Baptist Educational Society. President D. B. Hurlington, D. D., of Denison University, Granville, Ohio, delivered the annual address and presided.

John H. Harris, LL. D., president of Bushnell University, Penna., delivered an address on "The Day of Prayer for Colleges," and a long discussion followed.

The election of officers of the American Baptist Educational Society resulted as follows:

President, J. P. Green, D. D., Missouri; vice presidents, E. B. Hulbert, D. D., Illinois; J. B. Gambrell, D. D., Georgia; recording secretary, Rev. M. Potcat, Connecticut; corresponding secretary, Rev. H. L. Morehouse, New York; treasurer, E. V. Casey, New Jersey.

At the request of the National League for the Protection of American Institutions a resolution was adopted approving the action of the House of Representatives [illegible].

At the evening session of the Baptist [illegible] tarian schools among the Indians.

At the evening session of the Baptist Home Mission Society it was decided to accept the invitation of Pittsburg and meet in that city next year.

Bolters Should be Excluded.

Philadelphia, May 25.—National Chairman Harrity was asked to-night if there was a plan to exclude from the Democratic national convention the silver delegates who threaten to bolt if a gold standard plank should be inserted in the platform.

He replied that he could only reiterate that in his opinion the men who declare that they will withdraw from the convention if their views, or their candidates are not recognized, should be excluded from the convention. No man should be admitted as a delegate who is not prepared to acquiesce in the will of the majority of the convention. This rule should apply to sound money people and free silver people alike. He saw no reason to modify the prediction he made last week, that the convention will declare for the sound kind of money.

McKINLEY'S FRIENDS.

A Conference of His Supporters Held at Cleveland.

Cleveland, May 25.—Ex-Gov. McKinley held an informal reception in the office of Hon. M. A. Hanna this morning. There were men from every section of the country present and after the general handshaking was over, there was quite a [illegible] at which the following [illegible] were present:

[illegible] of California, W. T. Durbin of Indianapolis, [illegible] of Louisiana, Col. Fred Grant of New York, Maj. Moses P. Handy of Chicago, Gen. [illegible] Alger of Albany, N. Y., [illegible] Judge John T. [illegible], [illegible] J. D. McCullough of Oregon, C. G. [illegible] of New York, and John F. [illegible] of the same State.

The whole situation was gone over, though [illegible] refused to tell what was said. [illegible] that McKinley was surely the man who will be nominated at St. Louis. Maj. McKinley left for Canton as soon as the meeting was over. [illegible] the rumored visit of [illegible] to Mr. McKinley at Canton, Mr. H[illegible]

"Well, I [illegible] had not seen the report that he intended to come, but I can tell you that all these stories are canards."

H. A. Booth, who is a delegate to St. Louis from Oregon, was enthusiastic for [illegible] of that state, who called on Mr. Hanna and [illegible].

"There is some free silver talk in our state but a great majority of the people are for sound money and what is better still, they are for McKinley."

NO BETTER THAN WHITES.

Indians Must Not Violate the States' Game Laws.

Washington, May 25.—In the case of John H. Ward, sheriff of Uintah county, Wyoming, vs. Race Horse, a Bannock Indian, involving the construction of the treaty with the Bannock Indians, giving them the right to hunt on "unoccupied public lands" the Supreme court of the United States to-day decided that the right to hunt on these lands could not be exercised in contravention of the state law forbidding the hunting of wild animals. Race Horse was arrested for violating the game law of the State, the arrest being part of the incident which led to the Jackson's Hole trouble last year.

Mr. Justice Brown dissented from the judgment of the court for the reason that it violated the terms of a treaty between the United States and the Indians.

FIRE AT FT. WORTH.

The Union Depot in That City Was Destroyed Last Night.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 25.—The union depot was destroyed by fire this evening. Several other buildings adjoining also burned. The express office, hotel and a restaurant were in the depot. The people had long been agitating a new union station. To-day when the fire department attempted to save the building, unknown persons cut the hose in two in several places, and prevented the department from extinguishing the flames. Loss $75,000.

Blaze at Dallas.

Dallas, Tex., May 25.—Fire to-night burned out the A. P. Black Wall Paper and Paint company, C. Ott, shotguns, bicycles and general sporting goods; A. J. Knight, wall paper and paints, and the American Express office, on Elm street. Loss, $100,000.

SPANISH VICTIMS.

A Young Man Shot and an Old One Imprisoned.

Key West, Fla., May 25.—Private advices received in this city Saturday night by the steamer Mascotte report the execution of Manuel Martini Ortazo at the Cabanas prison on the morning of the 13th, charged with rebellion against the Spanish government. Ortazo was a youth of 18 years. He met death smilingly.

On the 15th Francisco Boca Landro, 74 years old and owner of a farm in the Guara district, and three colored servants were put in the Cabanas prison. Boca Landro is charged with failing to obey Weyler's orders for all loyal subjects to reside in fortified towns. He is quite deaf, entirely crippled and almost blind. One of his servants was accused of knowing the whereabouts of the insurgents and to compel him to talk they tied a rope around his head above his temples and twisted it until the scalp was cut all around the head.

A Rough Experience.

Mobile, Ala., May 25.—Some 60 men, reported filibusters, that failed to reach Cuba, on the Bermuda, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Clearwater from Ceiba, Honduras. The Bermuda left St. Johns river, Fla., April 27, and made a landing near Cardenas, in Cuba. After several boat loads of ammunition and other material had been put ashore and most of the men also, a Spanish gunboat hove in sight and began firing and one of the boats was overturned and some of the men were drowned. The Bermuda put to sea at once, and outran the gunboat.

Knowing that it was not safe to go back to Florida with the men, she made for Central America, the men were put ashore and walked to Ceiba. Their general appearance shows that they had a very rough experience.

Two Spanish Victories.

Havana, May 25.—Colonel Tort reports having had an engagement with the rebels near Madruga, in the Havana province, in which the enemy had 11 killed. The troops had two men wounded. The rebels attacked the town of Consolacion del Sur yesterday, and were repulsed by the garrison. The rebels on their retreat burned a number of huts on the outskirts of the town. The loss of the rebels was heavy. The garrison had four men killed and twenty wounded.

Spanish Troops Defeated.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 25.—Advices have reached here from a reliable source in Cuba to the effect that a strong body of Spanish troops recently made a second attempt to invade Cubitas, the seat of the Cuban government. They were ambushed in the mountains and sustained a crushing defeat. The Spaniards were literally slaughtered by the insurgents, and the force was compelled to flee in disorder, abandoning their equipments on the field.

The advices further show that a filibustering expedition having large quantities of munitions of war has landed at a place east of Santiago De Cuba.

Gold Reserve.

Washington, May 25.—The treasury gold reserve to-day stood at $109,490,103. Withdrawals, $1,635,300.

NOTABLE DAY FOR GILLETT.

Two Steam Hoisting Plants Ready for Operations.

IT WAS A FRIENDLY RIVALRY.

But the Ace of Diamonds Won Over the Abe Lincoln by a Few Minutes—Two Producing Mines Where Steam Pumps are Needed.

Special to The Gazette:

Cripple Creek, May 25.—This has been a red letter day in the history of the thriving little town of Gillett. Business was universally suspended, and everybody was out for a general holiday. The objective point of interest was the hill on which the Ace of Diamonds and the Lincoln mines are located.

For some time past both these competing mining properties have been placing in position steam hoisting and pumping plants, and a good-natured rivalry has existed between the owners of the respective properties as to which mine would have the honor of blowing the first steam whistle over a mine in the Gillett section of the great gold camp.

Hundreds of men and women had climbed the hill during the morning to witness the last great efforts of the men who were putting in place the last bolt or making the final connections. Refreshments of all kinds, both liquid and solid, were served at both mines with true Western hospitality. Many people from all over the district were present, including ten press representatives, representing papers in New York, and San Francisco, Cripple Creek, Victor, Colorado Springs, Denver and Pueblo.

As the hour of 11 o'clock drew near, the excitement among the spectators became quite intense, and many were the wagers as to which plant would be the first to sound its steam whistle. Fires were started almost simultaneously under both boilers, but fortune favored the Ace of Diamonds plant, which, at 1 o'clock had converted enough water into steam to blow its whistle and proclaim its enterprise to the surrounding mountains. The Lincoln whistle was not far behind, and sounded a few minutes after its successful rival.

The Ace of Diamonds is one of a group of 13 claims located on the low stretch of land which lies along the west side of Beaver creek, owned by the Ashland and Cripple Creek company. A shaft has been sunk on the property to a depth of 45 feet, and a good body of low grade ore exposed. The company was forced to suspend operations some time ago on account of the large flow of water which they encountered at this depth. The company, however, showed its faith in the property and immediately made preparations for the fine steam plant which was started up to-day. The new plant includes a pump with a capacity for hoisting 100 gallons per minute. Shipments from this property are expected to begin almost immediately.

The Lincoln reached a depth of 170 feet before the water question became too great to be contended with by the primitive methods in use. This property has been a paying proposition from grass roots down, and at the depth where work was stopped a large and rich body of ore had been encountered. No stoping has been done in this mine below the first level, which was run at a depth of 50 feet, and an immense body of good ore is now ready to be attacked by the miners.

The Lincoln is owned by D. G. Dargin, of Gillett, John C. Davidson of Golden, and John Sipple of Gillett. The limits of the ore chute in this mine have not yet been reached and just how far they do run is problematical.

A good strike is reported to-day to have been made in the Rattler claim on Raven hill, the property of the Rattler company. The property is located between the Eclipse and the Sheriff. The strike was made on the Russell lease, where a large amount of surface prospecting and trenching had been done. The strike is in an open cut, but no sufficient work has yet been done to determine the actual size of the vein. Beyond the fact that the vein seems to be a good big strong one and running east and west little is known.

A five-ton shipment was made to-day by Messrs. Tutt and Penrose from the Abe Lincoln in Poverty gulch. The ore will run $60 to the ton. Developments on this property up to the present time have been by windlass, but a new plant of machinery is soon to be put up.

The Gold Dollar tunnel has cut the Gold Dollar vein in Beacon hill at a distance of 850 feet from the mouth of the tunnel. The vein where cut is considerably broken up and is 30 feet wide. An upraise will be started at once to connect with the Prince Albert and Old Dollar workings.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Hundreds of People in Danger of Suffocation.

Chicago, May 25.—Thousands of persons living in the north shore suburb of Ravenswood and in Lake View narrowly escaped death by inhaling illuminating gas. The district affected extended from Fullerton avenue, north to Edgewater, between the lake and the river. The pressure in the mains was reduced just enough to extinguish the lights in the houses, where jets are kept burning all night, and the escaping gas soon filled the rooms. As soon as the police learned of the dangerous condition of affairs, every officer available was sent out to notify the sleeping people of their danger. The aroused people thought the town was afire and many were so much overcome by the fumes that several hours in the fresh air was necessary to restore them.

While Policeman John McGann of Lake View, was at work saving other people, his children were lying at home inhaling the deadly gas. Mrs. McGann was the first to be aroused by the storm and was partly suffocated by the gas from two jets. She was able to arouse her sister and four children were revived in the open air.

The sleeping occupants of the Waveland flats in Lake View were panic-stricken when the police awakened them and told their danger. Some ran out to the street in their night clothes, thinking the building was on fire. The forty families aroused in time to save all from asphyxiation.

WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.

Pastor of a Scandinavian Methodist Church had a Boneyard in the Basement.

Salt Lake, Utah, May 25.—This has been an exciting and eventful day in the investigation of the Scandinavian Methodist church tragedies, the net results being a chain of circumstances, which taken with those previously discovered fastens the guilt of murdering Miss Clausen on the Rev. Francis Hermans beyond a reasonable doubt and also goes to show that Miss Samuelson fell a victim to the pastor's satanic actions, and that he may also have had other victims. The work of excavating the floor of the basement of the church began at an early hour this morning. A vast amount of earth was removed and quantities of bones found in various stages of decomposition. Some were plainly identified as human bones, others were in such a condition that it was impossible to tell whether they were human or the bones of animals, and others were plainly recognized as being those of cattle and fowls. The general appearance of the place was such as to suggest the idea of a cemetery and there is no telling how many human beings have been interred in the basement of the sacred edifice.

FIFTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

Yesterday's Proceedings in the Senate and House.

Washington, May 25.—The last of the general appropriation bills—the Deficiency bill, engrossed the attention of the Senate to-day. As reported from the Appropriations Committee, it covers items aggregating about $9,000,000, about twice the amount it carried when it came over from the House. In its passage through the Senate, the aggregate was still further increased in the French spoliation claims; of over half a million dollars for buildings of the Court of Claims under the Bowman act, and $171,465 for the Choteau claim in building an iron steam battery in 1864.

At first there appeared to be a purpose on the part of Mr. Butler of North Carolina, to antagonize it with his own bill prohibiting the issue of bonds without the consent of Congress but he yielded to the appeal of Mr. Hale of Maine to allow the Deficiency bill to be disposed of.

Several propositions requiring unanimous consent were made to have a day and hour fixed for taking the vote on the bond bill and all amendments thereto, but a very determined objection was made by Mr. Palmer of Illinois who declared that no unanimous consent could be obtained for taking the vote on that bill.

After having loaded the Deficiency bill pretty heavily with private claims, the bill was passed and the Senate at 6:20 adjourned until to-morrow.

HOUSE.

Washington, May 25.—To-day's session of the House under the rules was devoted to District of Columbia affairs. That calendar was soon cleared, however, and the remainder of the session was spent in Committee of the Whole considering the bill to repeal that section of the present tariff law providing for a rebate on alcohol used in the arts and medicinal compounds.

Mr. [illegible] (Rep.) of Kentucky, on behalf of the Ways and Means Committee, offered an amendment providing for the appointment of a committee of three senators and three Representatives to consider the question relating to the use of alcohol in the arts and manufacture free of tax, and to report to the next session of Congress.

In advocating the passage of the bill, Mr. Evans stated that the section had been found so faulty that no regulations could be framed by the Treasury Department, as the language of the section directed, that would protect the government and that the government stood to lose between $20,000 and $30,000 in claims every day since it was enacted.

The repeal of the sections was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Russell and Hill (Reps) of Connecticut, on the ground that it would be a reversal of one of the principles of the Republican party in the matter of protection, the latter giving notice that he would move to strike out the repeal clause and insert instead an amendment for a committee of investigation. The bill was not disposed of when at 5 o'clock the committee rose and the House adjourned.

The report of Elections Committee No. 3, on the case of Martin (Pop.) of Virginia vs. Lockhart (Dem.) from the Sixth North Carolina district, in favor of Martin, the contestant, was presented and ordered printed.

SUGAR BOUNTY CLAIMS.

The Supreme Court Decides that They Must be Paid.

Washington, May 25.—The effect of the decision in the sugar bounty cases by the United States Supreme Court will make immediately available for their payment more than $5,350,000. For the payment of the cane, beet and sorghum sugar claims Congress appropriated $5,000,000. These claims amount to $6,111,576, and are classified as follows cents omitted:

Louisiana, 45 claims, $5,591,617; third Texas district, 12 claims, $123,612; Florida, 9 claims, $3,073; California, 3 claims, $26,234; Nebraska, 1 claim, $45,060; Kansas, 2 claims, $6,270; Utah 1 claim, $45,563. Total, 52 claims, $6,111,576.

All these claims have been approved by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and as the total amount allowed is larger than the appropriation, the claims will have to be pro rated or an additional appropriation made to meet them. When the bounty was repealed, certain sugar producers had completed their production and presented claims for bounty, and these claims amounting to $236,294, remained unpaid. Of this class of claims, $121,738 worth were for maple sugar, distributed through the Eastern States.

In this same class were 33 claims for bounty on sugars other than maple, as follows, cents omitted.

First California district, six claims, $71,591; Louisiana, 22 claims, $25,095; Nebraska, two claims, $14,576; Third Texas district, one claim, $1,234; Florida, one claim, $3,602; Kansas, one claim, $156. Total, 33 claims, $116,563.

All these claims of every class have passed through the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and have been approved. They will now be forwarded at once to the auditor's office and then to Comptroller Bowler for his signature.

It will probably be July next before any of the claims will be paid in the ordinary treasury routine.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Baltimore-New York.

Baltimore, May 25.—Doheny gave the champions four bases on balls to-day in the first inning, which, with two singles and a couple of long flies, netted them four runs and the game. Gleason was given an ovation by the 7,531 spectators and a pair of diamond cuff buttons by the members of the Baltimore team. Score: Baltimore, 5; New York, 3.

Philadelphia-Boston.

Philadelphia, May 25.—The Philadelphia club reappeared on the home grounds this afternoon after an unsuccessful Western trip, and defeated Boston. Both teams made costly errors. Score: Philadelphia, 6; Boston 3.
